Cajun Vocabulation Gordon J. Voisin, 2011-12-20 With each generation and with each passing day, we grow closer to losing a key part of our nation's unique heritage—the Cajun French language. Unless a concerted effort is made to preserve the language, this rich and vibrant culture will soon be relegated to the back pages of history. Cajun Vocabulation is one such labor of love—one man's attempt to preserve the unique heritage of his South Louisiana home. Cajun Vocabulation is a dictionary and pronunciation guide for one of the major dialects of Cajun French. Author Gordon J. Voisin interviewed more than one hundred native speakers in order to create this unique cultural artifact. He not only presents the basics of the language; he does so without sacrificing any of the zest and humor for which Cajuns are famous. The words are written phonetically, so even those with little knowledge of Cajun French will quickly learn to approximate its unique sound. Engage with a vital and colorful part of American heritage with Cajun Vocabulation.

Adam Lanier learns of the dangerous game Simone is playing . . . and the sexy single dad comes to her aid. never been this steamy.

Flamingo Lane Tim Applegate, 2019-02-12 Chance is a hitman with hippie roots and deep emotional wounds, disillusioned by life and stung by love—and his next target is the woman who rejected him. But taking on such a job is not without complications. As he closes in on his victim, Chance struggles to rediscover the competitive edge that normally makes him so deadly. Faye Lindstrom escaped a life of captivity and addiction in Quintana Roo, but she can't flee the woman she has become. For now, she holes up in a house in Crooked River owned by an old friend, the reclusive novelist William Dieter. But that safe haven will only last until the end of the summer, assuming that the violence in her past doesn't catch up to her first. For lovers of Southern noir, Flamingo Lane is a gritty cat-and-mouse pursuit that launches from an island off the Yucatan Peninsula through the cornfields of Indiana to a small town on the Florida panhandle. A standalone sequel, Flamingo Lane ventures even further into the haunted territories of revenge and redemption first chronicled in Fever Tree.

Murder at the Cajun Crab John Gillespie, 2020-09-11

Murder at the Cajun Crab is a rollicking, gut-busting crime thriller written by a real Sheriff, John Gillespie. The story goes something like this: Wisecracking, booze and sexed-up senior citizen Vinnie Steele has just retired to Gold Beach on the Oregon Coast with his sizzling new girlfriend after a legendary career as Chief of Detectives of the Los Angeles County's Sheriff's Department. Or so he thought he was retired. When a headless and handless body washes ashore in the early 1980s and makes national news, the local Sheriff knows he needs help and asks Vinnie to lead the investigation. A clue leads him up the Coast to Newport, to the Cajun Crab. All holy hell breaks loose when a mystery criminal puts out a contract on Vinnie and the nation's most wanted and notorious hit man, Snow White, takes the job for one final murder. It's Vinnie, and a cast of A-list cops bantering with morgue humor and drinking gallons of liquor in a race against time to catch Snow White's employer and stop the secret spread of a newly arrived street drug packing a sinister destructive power--meth.

Cajun Rules Martin Brown, 2022-02-20 In the early 1970's Detective Marc Anthony Bryant is responsible for the investigation of all deaths in his suburban Dallas department. The discovery of two Dallas men, tied up and shot gangland-style in his town puts him on the trail of a veteran organized crime figure who has a love for pit dog fighting and a penchant for using car bombs against his enemies. Bryant must hide Lynne, the widow of one of the slain men, while he learns all he can from her about the old Dallas gangster. Lynne is a beautiful young hippy girl who looks like she is straight out of central casting and draws Bryant into a world of jewel thieves and pit dog fighters. EXCERPT His name is Gipson Tuttle. Everyone calls him Gip. I'll give you his number and address, but you can't tell him where I am. He asked me yesterday and I told him that I was on my way out of town to move back with my parents in Ohio. He knows Ran Donovan. He doesn't like Ran, but they have a lot of the same friends. I like Gip, but I don't trust him. Is one of the dogs he picked up the puppy that was stolen by Otto Sack? The question caught Lynne off guard and she quickly turned and faced me. Where did you hear that? Look, Lynne, I probably know a hell of a lot more than you think I do. Were you there when Rick tied up Sack and his wife and tortured them for hours? You make it sound worse than it was, she shot back, angry now. Of course I was there. Where else could I go? I just tried to stay away from them. I finally left, went to a movie. I hoped it would all be over when I got back, but they were still there. Who was doing the torturing with Rick? She stayed silent for a while, staring out of the window at the passing landscape. Finally, she turned toward me. It was Terry Ryan. Look, Sad and his wife got what they deserved. They weren't tortured. Rick just threatened them, gave them a good scare. They stole that puppy from Rick. He paid over two thousand for it. Terry threatened to rape Sad's wife, but he didn't. Rick wouldn't let him do that. He just convinced Sad that he would. Maybe he slapped Sad in the face a few times, but it wasn't like torture. Sad finally admitted that he took it and promised to take them to it. He had it hidden in an abandoned shack near his house. When Rick got the puppy back, he let them go. That's all there was to it. What did Ran Donovan think about all of that? I hear that Sad is Ran's cousin or something. Is that why Rick and Terry were both killed, do you think? I don't think so. I don't know. Lynne turned and began staring out of the window. After a moment of silence, she said; Rick told me that Ran was cool with it. He told Rick that if it had been his dog, he would have put a bullet in Sad and his wife, both. But...I don't know. You never know about Ran Donovan. Maybe he had second thoughts. Eventually we pulled into the gravel driveway of the old wooden house. It looked almost in as bad a shape as Maurice Cox's barn. I noticed three short metal culverts or tin-horns in front that had been cut in half and apparently served as shelters for the dogs. There were empty chains in front of each that were affixed to metal stakes in the ground. As we approached, we saw that the front door was standing open. I told Lynne to go back to the car, lock herself in, and if I didn't come out in a few minutes, to get on the radio and call for help.
