The Fine Print Jack Schwartz,2015-05-06 In the second half of the 20th century, print journalism found its Golden Age. Jack Schwartz was one of the unsung participants, mainly as an editor who polished copy and helped shape coverage at some of America's most important newspapers, among them Newsday and (especially) The New York Times. He doesn't glamorize or sentimentalize but provides an unflinching, inside scoop on the ambitions and foibles of the people who molded the news they saw fit to print. Written with perspicacity and wry humor, recalling high moments and low, Schwartz's personal and professional journey memorably evokes a remarkable era and its cast of colorful characters.

Nomad David Alexander,2023-08-23 Nomad spelled backwards is Damon which is similar to the name for a self-configuring, self-actuating computer program that runs in the background, or throughout the digital space inside a computer Tabor was in the matrix room, looking at Armageddon. Projected onto one of the walls was an immense blowup of one of the WIRE hardware drug chips, the core layer known as the matrix. A technician was explaining how this new plug drug, to be called Armageddon, would be twice as potent as any drug of its type that had been manufactured before. We've squeezed in a million more transistors, the tech explained proudly to Tabor. A hit of one of these can be incredibly addictive. What's the downside? Tabor asked the techie. And why hasn't production on this line been instituted yet? Well, answered the tech a little sheepishly, there have been some problems in our development cycle. I'll show you if you'll permit me. He asked Tabor to come with him. They went from the projection room into the research wing. Here, a thick pane of double-layered glass gave vantage into a testing area. A recording camera was also pointed at the pane of glass, staring into the room like Tabor and the tech were doing. Inside the room beyond the large glass panel were two shaven headed Motherboarder clones in their flowing white robes. The acolytes were sitting on the floor, staring at the walls with blank expressions on their faces. Everything ready? the tech asked a woman in a blue laboratory coat like the one he wore who was seated at a console filled with multiple view screens and flashing digital displays
