This work attempts to bring alive a vibrant city culture of crowds and violence, militant women, beer brewing, ricksha-pulling, shebeens and popular music and dance. Also, histories of Lamontville, Inanda and Clermont complement studies of workers and political resistance.

The Present Residents of Cato Manor J. F. Butler-Adam, Wenonah M. Venter, 1984

International Handbook of Urban Education William T. Pink, George W. Noblit, 2008-09-03 The universality of the problematics with urban education, together with the importance of understanding the context of improvement interventions, brings into sharp focus the importance of an undertaking like the International Handbook of Urban Education. An important focus of this book is the interrogation of both the social and political factors that lead to different problem posing and subsequent solutions within each region.

From the Land of the Zulu Kings J. L. Smail, 1979

The African City Bill Freund, 2007-03-05 This book is comprehensive both in terms of time coverage, from before the Pharaohs to the present moment and in that it tries to consider cities from the entire continent, not just Sub-Saharan Africa. Apart from factual information and rich description material culled from many sources, it looks at many issues from why urban life emerged in the first place to how present-day African cities cope in difficult times. Instead of seeing towns and cities as somehow extraneous to the real Africa, it views them as an inherent part of developing Africa, indigenous, colonial, and post-colonial and emphasizes the extent to which the future of African society and African culture will likely be played out mostly in cities. The book is written to appeal to students of history but equally to geographers, planners, sociologists and development specialists interested in urban problems.

Palestinian Collective Memory and National Identity M. Litvak, 2009-05-25 This book analyzes the evolution and cultivation of modern Palestinian collective memory and its role in shaping Palestinian national identity from its inception in the 1920s to the 2006 Palestinian elections.

Insiders and Outsiders Bill Freund, 1995 As insiders and outsiders, the Indian working class presented an analytical challenge in studying economic history from below. The result is a skillful capture of the nuances in the interplay of social forces, and the initiatives of particular classes and particular cultural formations, which simultaneously brings the larger picture into focus.

Inside Indian Indenture Ashwin Desai, Goolam H. Vahed, 2010 Many were filled with hopes as high as the stars as they crossed the Indian Ocean, making their way from India to Durban in southern Africa in the late 1800s. Yet, realising the dream of a better life and returning home triumphant was not to be for many. Thousands returned with less than they had started out with, only to find that home was no longer the place they had left. The travellers, too, had changed irrevocably: caste had been transgressed, relatives had died and spaces for reintegration had closed up as colonialism tightened its grip. Home for these wandering exiles was no more.

Postwar Jewish Displacement and Rebirth Françoise S. Ouzan, Manfred

Gerstenfeld, 2014-06-26 This volume offers insights into the major Jewish migration movements and rebuilding of European Jewish communities in the mid-twentieth century. Its chapters illustrate many facets of the Jews' often traumatic post-war experiences. People had to find their way when returning to their countries of origin or starting from scratch in a new land. Their experiences and hardships from country to country and from one community of migrants to another are analyzed here. The mass exodus of Jews from Arab and Muslim countries is also addressed to provide a necessary and broader insight into how those challenges were met, as both migrations were a result of persecution, as well as discrimination.

Labour, Townships, and Protest Belinda Bozzoli, 1979 Monograph comprising a collection of conference papers on historical aspects of urban area race relations and social class struggle, black literature, and labour movement of miners in Witwatersrand, South Africa - examines squatter movements in Johannesburg, racial segregation in Sophiatown, culture in terms of poetry and performer entertainment, migration of miners between Cornwall and the Transvaal, the black mineworkers' strike of 1920, etc. References. Conference held in Johannesburg 1978 Feb.

South Africa's Environmental History Stephen Dovers, Ruth Edgecombe, Bill Guest, 2003 This is a pioneering study of the impact of humans on the environment in the history of South Africa and the role that the environment has played in shaping the history of human development in the country. It consists of two parts. The first is a series of local and particular studies, such as the invasion of prickly pear in the Eastern Cape; the impact of windmills and barbed wire on farming practice and the environment in the Karoo; and ecological change in the Lake St Lucia region. The second is a series of regional and continental comparisons that bring out both the similarities and differences in the environmental histories of South Africa, on the one hand, and South America, South Asia, Australia and the rest of Africa, on the other. Book jacket.
