Hidden History of Transportation in Los Angeles Charles P. Hobbs,2014-11-04 Los Angeles transportation's epic scale--its iconic freeways, Union Station, Los Angeles International Airport and the giant ports of its shores--has obscured many offbeat transit stories of moxie and eccentricity. Triumphs such as the Vincent Thomas Bridge and Mac Barnes's Ground Link buspool have existed alongside such flops as the Santa Monica Freeway Diamond Lane and the Oxnard-Los Angeles Caltrain commuter rail. The City of Angels lacks a propeller-driven monorail and a freeway in the paved bed of the Los Angeles River, but not for a lack of public promoters. Horace Dobbins built the elevated California Cycleway in Pasadena, and Mike Kadletz deployed the Pink Buses for Orange County kids hitchhiking to the beach. Join Charles P. Hobbs as he recalls these and other lost episodes of LA-area transportation lore.

Mind-Matter Interaction Pamela Rae Heath, M.D.,2011-03-22 The power of the mind to influence the physical world has long been debated, debunked, studied for military applications, and used in science fiction. This historical and theoretical study of mind-matter interaction, or MMI, explores the phenomena of levitation, stigmata, inedia, paranormal activity, bilocation, fire immunity, luminosity, and the teleportation of matter. The results of more than a century of formal experimental research are discussed, as are resultant training techniques, theories, and controlled experiments used to test or bolster psychokinetic abilities.

Home Office: Draft Modern Slavery Bill - Cm. 8770 Great Britain: Home Office,2013-12-16 Modern slavery encompasses human trafficking, slavery, forced labour and domestic servitude. In 2012, the International Labour Organization estimated that there were 21 million victims of forced labour across the world. Our current understanding of the exact scale of the problem is limited. The only systematic means we have for collecting data is the National Referral Mechanism (NRM) to which potential victims of modern slavery are referred. 1,186 potential victims of modern slavery were referred in 2012 - a 25 per cent increase on the previous year. The Government will go forward in three ways: through legislation in this Parliament; through non-legislative action across the country; and through upstream work in source countries. The draft Modern Slavery Bill will: consolidate and simplify existing slavery and trafficking offences; increase the maximum sentence available to life imprisonment; introduce civil orders to restrict the activity of those who pose a risk and those convicted of slavery and trafficking offences; create a new Anti-Slavery Commissioner role to galvanise law enforcement's efforts to tackle modern slavery; and establish a legal duty to report potential victims of trafficking to the National Crime Agency (NCA). The Rt Hon Frank Field MP was invited to run a number of evidence sessions to gather information and views from a wide range of experts. His recommendations will be fully considered as the Bill and action plan are developed. The action plan will also set out how we will improve law enforcement action in source countries, and take steps towards scaling up reintegration programmes

Application Specific Processors Earl Swartzlander,2011-09-27 Application Specific Processors is written for use by engineers who are developing specialized systems (application specific systems). Traditionally, most high performance signal processors have been realized with application specific processors. The explanation is that application specific processors can be tailored to exactly match the (usually very demanding) application requirements. The result is that no `processing power' is wasted for unnecessary capabilities and maximum performance is achieved. A disadvantage is that such processors have been expensive to design since each is a unique design that is customized to the specific application. In the last decade, computer-aided design systems have been developed to facilitate the development of application specific integrated circuits. The success of such ASIC CAD systems suggests that it should be possible to streamline the process of application specific processor design. Application Specific Processors consists of eight chapters which provide a mixture of techniques and examples that relate to application specific processing. The inclusion of techniques is expected to suggest additional research and to assist those who are faced with the requirement to implement efficient application specific processors. The examples illustrate the application of the concepts and demonstrate the efficiency that can be achieved via application specific processors. The chapters were written by members and former members of the application specific processing group at the University of Texas at Austin. The first five chapters relate to specific arithmetic which often is the key to achieving high performance in application specific processors. The next two chapters focus on signal processing systems, and the final chapter examines the interconnection of possibly disparate elements to create systems.

The Reciprocity Between Faith and Sacraments in the Sacramental Economy International Theological Comission,2021-01-06 The Sacraments are at the very centre of the Christian life, yet many today receive them without a clear understanding of what the graces they signify and contain. This document from the International Theological Commission explores the relationship between the faith of the recipient and the power and grace conferred by the sacrament looking at what is needed for the fruitful reception of the sacraments in order for them to help the receiver grow in faith. There is a profound unity between the act by which we believe and the contents to which we give our assent.... In the Christian conception it is not possible to think of a faith without sacramental expression, nor a sacramental practice in the absence of ecclesial faith [51] The document treats each sacrament but gives saves its most comprehensive treatment for marriage exploring the challenges posed by the increasing number of marriages where the spouses have an incomplete understanding of marriage as a sacrament.

101 Ways to Bug Your Teacher Lee Wardlaw,2004 Steve Sneeze Wyatt attempts to thwart his parents' plan to have him skip eighth grade, but he has bigger problems when his friends disapprove of his new list and Mrs. Fierce Pierce threatens to keep him from the Invention Convention.

Announcing the Coming End of Biological Aging and Disease Patti Harter,2017-07-28 The main purpose of this book is to be a vehicle for funding anti-aging research which is currently not funded by the United States Government despite the fact Medicare and Medicaid are predicted to bankrupt the country in the next few decades. Funds for research and development have been denied to scientists on the basis that aging is a natural process. A ridiculous excuse most believe is designed to protect the interest of the pharmaceutical companies. Ninety percent (90%) of royalties from this book will be dedicated to anti-aging research. One-Heart's goal is to raise $50 million dollars for R&D. Below is a letter of endorsement from a leading anti-aging scientist. Dr. de Grey's biography can be found in Wikipedia:: Letter of Endorsement By Dr. Aubrey de Grey, Chief Science Officer SENS.org: I am generally recognized as the pioneer of the now-mainstream comprehensive damage repair approach to extending health in old age, commonly known as SENS, and my primary affiliation is Chief Science Officer of SENS Research Foundation. I have dedicated my life to the development of medical technologies that can truly bring aging under the same degree of medical control that we have today over most infectious diseases, so that everyone will be able to remain both physically and mentally youthful however long they live. As the expert community and the wider world become progressively more aware that we are within striking distance of that goal - one which has preoccupied humanity since the dawn of civilization - we are more and more in need of communicators who can get that message across to the public powerfully enough to dispel the ubiquitous fear of getting one's hopes up. In the many current debates over health care it has been predicted that the cost of Medicare and Medicaid will eventually bankrupt the USA due to the increase in the aging population with its associated ill-health. The same is equally true worldwide. Anti-aging research should, therefore, be high on the government's list of priorities - but, unfortunately, it is not. Instead there is little if any public or private funding allocated to the most critical such research, because it is seen as too early-stage for most large companies but also too translational for standard government grants. Regenerative medicine is an emerging science that holds great promise for ending aging and many of the diseases that plague humankind. Patti Harter's new book, Announcing the Coming End of Biological Aging and Disease, presents the process for the beginning of that transformation. The book is designed to provide funding for this important research. This is a wonderful opportunity to make a positive difference in the world.
