The RDS Forex System Michael Radkay, Stephanie Radkay, 2012-02-27 Inside a unique system that allows you to identify and trade key turning points in the forex market The financial markets are in a constant state of affirming, breaking, and developing new support and resistance areas. Traders use a variety of methods to project support and resistance points based on past price action. However, the question of whether those areas will hold or break in real time is a much more difficult calculation. In The RDS Forex System, former pit trader Michael Radkay provides forex traders with a unique system for identifying support and resistance zones in the foreign currency market and developing profitable trading strategies around those zones. The system uses market volatility, momentum, and chart patterns to calculate support and resistance zones. As prices reach a specific zone objective, trading strategies are put in place to profit from the next movement. The book will show how this system gives traders a continuous sense of the market's directional bias, identifies potential turning points, and recommends levels to take profits off the table. Highlights the Rotating Directional System (RDS), a computer-based, longer-term application of the methodology used by many successful pit traders Discusses how to use a variety of indicators to identify support and resistance areas Reveals strategies employed to profit from market swings The RDS Forex System is an ideal guide for retail traders actively involved in the forex market.

Economic News Release - Forex Trading Paul Ardennes,2021-04-06 There are many ways of trading the Economic News Release as an online business. Straddle is a popular one but we will use the banks' way instead. It is safer and faster. The banks use 2 ways to trade economic news releases. The first one is HFT, and that stands for High Frequency Trading. It uses high speed computers to trade on millisecond timing. This requires a good financial backbone for the physical structure. The second technique used by the bankers is trading on realtime release. This means that if the news are very good, the banks buy the currency, if the news are very bad, they sell, and if the news are so and so, they do nothing and sometimes react later. Our course is teaching you this method. We use a real-time economic news release application, available from the website. It has a 14 days free trial and after that, you register for a minimal fee of $10 per month. We have tried to find free ones, but the release is not real-time and lapses into the seconds. That is too late. The banks have already reacted by then. We will set up together a free robot that closes the trade upon reaching a predefined profit that we calculate beforehand. This course shows you how to do that by using a calculator that is on the website. You can trade this system with a real account of £200 with a 0.04 lot setup. The best would be to have $1000 capital with 0.2 setup. On $1000, using 0.2 lot, you would be risking around $20 depending on the currency traded. If you go to forex factory website, you will see how many news trades you can do per day. The extreme minimum investment is $50 because of the minimum number of lots that brokers allow of 0.01. Trade the forex news like bankers do.
