Transforming Education in the Gulf Region Khalid Alshahrani, Mohamed Ally, 2016-07-01 Countries in the Arab Gulf are currently experiencing some of the fastest rates of growth and progress in the world. Transforming Education in the Gulf Region argues that education systems in these countries need to use innovative pedagogies and best practices in teaching and learning to educate all citizens so that they obtain the knowledge and skills to be productive members of society. This book will contribute to the transformation of education in the Gulf countries by suggesting best practices, research outcomes and case studies from experts in the Gulf region. It has become increasingly evident in recent years that Gulf countries need to use emerging learning technologies to cater for the needs of learners and to provide maximum flexibility in learning. There is also a growing practical need to use electronic technologies, since learning materials are more widely available in electronic formats than in paper-based formats. This book focuses on the role of emerging technologies and innovative pedagogies in transforming education in six Gulf countries in the region (Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates, Kuwait, Qatar, Oman and Bahrain). With contributions from experts around the world, the book argues that the time is right for Arab Gulf countries to make the transition to electronic learning and that they need to implement the outcomes of research and adopt best practices to transform and revolutionize education to prepare learners in the Gulf region for the 21st Century. The book should be of interest to academics and students in the areas of higher education, learning technologies, education policy and education reform. It should also be of interest to educators and policymakers in the Gulf region.

Using Video to Assess Teaching Performance Carrie Eunyoung Hong, Irene Van Riper, 2017-09-15 Recent performance-based teacher assessments have challenged teacher educators to rethink the ways that candidates are prepared in education programs. edTPA (formerly the Teacher Performance Assessment) requires teacher candidates to demonstrate knowledge and skills through authentic teaching artifacts, written commentary, and video clips recorded in real classroom settings. As part of the edTPA requirements, teacher candidates submit video clips of their own teaching to be viewed and assessed by evaluators. This implies that teacher candidates should know how to utilize their own videos for the purpose of improving their instructional skills as well as the learning of their students. These initiatives have urged teacher educators to prepare their candidates for the active use of video-recorded instruction either in university classrooms or in field-based practices. This book provides research-based strategies to support video analysis of authentic teaching in initial teacher education programs. It also presents a review of video recording tools in reference to their features and practicality for different educational settings.

Centered Presentations Jennifer Palus, Tom Searcy, 2013-09-19 An exploration of four dimensions of presentation design and delivery: Content, Creative, Conversation, and Confidence. Content may be an issue for you or your team if you routinely find:

- You are unable to present all your slides in the allotted time.
- Your presentation falls far short of the expected duration.
- Your audience derails your agenda, focusing on other topics.
- Your audience does not seem to grasp the concepts in your presentation or the desired next steps.

Signs that may point to an issue within your creative:

- Your audience visibly winces at the color combinations or animation.
- If you lose your place when presenting, it's hard to get back on track because every slide looks essentially the same.
- Although you try not to, you find yourself reading your text-heavy slides to your audience.
- You avoid sharing your presentation with your internal brand team.

You or your team may need to focus on conversation if:

- You are doing almost all the talking in your meetings. • You shut down conversation in order to stay on your planned timing. • You realize you've been talking for ten minutes about a topic that is not covered in your presentation content. • You think of your major point as a big “reveal” and don't want to give anything away until you get there. • You avoid rehearsal so that you will sound natural; you wing it. Signs you may have a perceived confidence issue • Audience members have told you they could not hear or understand you. • You rarely get questions from your audience. • Audience members direct questions to other members of your team. • You find yourself tongued-tied when asked to clarify a slide topic. • You hear yourself, but cannot stop, using “um” in every sentence. In each section, learn how presenters stray from center by staying in their comfort zones, and how to return to center with specific recommendations. If you or your team struggle with aspects of developing or delivering compelling presentations, this book will provide a new toolbox and shared vocabulary. Includes checklists and assessments to bring the ideas to life.
