Access to Health Care for American Indians and Alaska Natives Juliet King,1999 This study set out to explore two research questions - does access to health care differ for American Indians and Alaska Natives as compared to other economically disadvantaged groups, and if so, in what ways does it differ. In addressing these questions, the relationship between use of health services (as a measure of access to health care), and health status, individual characteristics, financial and structural resources was explored for a sample of American Indians and Alaska Natives, Blacks, Hispanics and rural residents- Based on the results, it is possible to conclude that the ability of American Indians and Alaska Natives to obtain health services does differ, but that it does so in ways that were not originally hypothesized--Leaf 191.
