Fun with Roman Numerals Math Workbook Chris McMullen,2019-09-14 How can you have fun with Roman numerals? Convert historical dates, like MCMXLIX, from Roman numerals. Do arithmetic with Roman numerals, like the square root of XLIX. Make fractions or percents with Roman numerals, like IV/IX. Predict which Roman numeral will come next in a pattern, like IV, IX, XVI, XXV, __, __. Solve variety puzzles that use Roman numerals (including word puzzles that relate to the Romans in some way). Fight gladiators in a Colosseum. (We're just kidding about this last part. Kids, don't try this at home. Or anyone else. Even if you're not a kid.)

Roman Numbers Do-me Workbook,2018-01-29 If there is one alternative number systems everyone should learn, it's the Roman number system. It's the only other number system used today, although it's usually only found in decorative or customary locations, such as clocks, inscriptions and movie credits. If possible, find something in regular use that displays a Roman number and start a discussion with the students about why it might have been designed that way. This worksheet provides three different exercises having to do with Roman number conversion. The first two provide practice in converting from and to the Roman number system. The third is a math problem expressed in Roman. The student will have to convert the values to Arabic, compute the answer, then convert the answer back into Roman.

IVXLCDM Cracking Roman Numerals Ages 9+ Robert S. Bell, 2018-02-26 One of the greatest gifts that a teenager may receive, is a real understanding of basic maths when a child. Practice, practice and even more practice helps to build fluency, thereby providing young people with the confidence and pleasure associated in demonstrating an ability to complete questions both quickly and accurately. Providing hundreds of practice questions, this is a no frills, no nonsense workbook that I trust students, parents, guardians and teachers will find helpful in reading and writing Roman Numerals. The curriculum requires: * Year 4 pupils to be able to read Roman Numerals to 100 (I to C) and know that over time, the numeral system changed to include the concept of 0 and place value; and * Year 5/6 pupils to read Roman Numerals to 1,000 (M) and recognise years written in Roman numerals. Albeit that the main purpose is to provide practice in reading and writing Roman Numerals, by way of cross curriculum learning opportunities, students may be encouraged to discuss (and further explore) any of the events listed in more depth, including: * Summer Olympics; * US Presidents; * UK Prime Ministers; * British Monarchs who have reigned for at least 50 years; * a Selection of Historic Events; * Australian PMs; * Kings and Queens in England from 802; * Past Masters; and * Classical Musicians.
