The Television Code Deborah L. Jaramillo, 2018-09-26 The broadcasting industry's trade association, the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB), sought to sanitize television content via its self-regulatory document, the Television Code. The Code covered everything from the stories, images, and sounds of TV programs (no profanity, illicit sex and drinking, negative portrayals of family life and law enforcement officials, or irreverence for God and religion) to the allowable number of commercial minutes per hour of programming. It mandated that broadcasters make time for religious programming and discouraged them from charging for it. And it called for tasteful and accurate coverage of news, public events, and controversial issues. Using archival documents from the Federal Communications Commission, NBC, the NAB, and a television reformer, Senator William Benton, this book explores the run-up to the adoption of the 1952 Television Code from the perspectives of the government, TV viewers, local broadcasters, national networks, and the industry's trade association. Deborah L. Jaramillo analyzes the competing motives and agendas of each of these groups as she builds a convincing case that the NAB actually developed the Television Code to protect commercial television from reformers who wanted more educational programming, as well as from advocates of subscription television, an alternative distribution model to the commercial system. By agreeing to self-censor content that viewers, local stations, and politicians found objectionable, Jaramillo concludes, the NAB helped to ensure that commercial broadcast television would remain the dominant model for decades to come.

From Radio to the Big Screen Hal Erickson, 2014-05-23 There was a time when "American popular entertainment" referred only to radio and motion pictures. With the coming of talking pictures, Hollywood cashed in on the success of big-time network radio by bringing several of the public's favorite broadcast personalities and programs to the screen. The results, though occasionally successful, often proved conclusively that some things are better heard than seen. Concentrating primarily on radio's Golden Age (1926–1962), this lively history discusses the cinematic efforts of airwave stars Rudy Vallee, Amos 'n' Andy, Fred Allen, Joe Penner, Fibber McGee & Molly, Edgar Bergen, Lum & Abner, and many more. Also analyzed are the movie versions of such radio series as The Shadow, Dr. Christian and The Life of Riley. In addition, two recent films starring contemporary radio headliners Howard Stern and Garrison Keillor are given their due.

Talking Radio Michael C. Keith, 2000 This book uses an oral history approach incorporating comments by such people as Steve Allen, Ray Bradbury, Dick Clark, Walter Cronkite, Larry Gelbart, Paul Harvey, Art Linkletter, Ed McMahon, Daniel Schorr, and many other personalities.

Behind The Green Screen Jacalyn Kerbeck, 2021-05-22 In Behind The Green Screen, Dr. Jacalyn Kerbeck, (known professionally as Dr. Jacalyn(tm)) Creator, TV/Radio Show Host, Executive Producer, Director, and Broadcast Engineer of the Rapping with Dr. Jacalyn® live streaming programming shares with her readers, whom she refers to as Dear Friend about her journey retiring from the corporate world into the live broadcasting business. This book is for everyone and anyone who has ever considered following their dreams and making them into a reality. What makes this book a fascinating read is Dr. Jacalyn(tm) vulnerably shares stories from her life. Some may resonate with women around the world. Women who have faced harassment, discrimination, or disrespect in the workplace may hear their own voice in Dr. Jacalyn's words. We are advocates for each other. Together, we are empowering women to stand and lift each other up. This book details how and why she left the security of her paycheck, benefits, and comfort zone to go out on her own. Little did she know that one week after leaving, a global pandemic would shut the world down. Refusing to be deterred, Dr. Jacalyn(tm) focused on helping others through coaching, mentoring, and the facilitation of support group meetings. Every Friday night at 5 pm EDT, Dr. Jacalyn(tm) was interviewed on a global radio station. During the pandemic, she negotiated to host the show herself. Without any previous professional training, she became the interviewer instead of the interviewee. She studied, researched, and worked with coaches and mentors to learn the fundamentals of show hosting, broadcasting, production, and direction. This is a must-read for anyone looking to break free from the day-to-day grind of employment to embrace the growth and opportunity of entrepreneurship. Success looks different for each person. Dr. Jacalyn(tm) provides life lessons from her own experience, to help the reader understand how to start and succeed in a live broadcasting business. Live Streaming broadcasts are different from podcasts. Podcasts can be pre-recorded and then edited. A live TV/Radio Show has no editing. Live broadcasts are scheduled in advance and can appeal to a larger audience. Dr. Jacalyn(tm) walks the reader through the steps she has taken to build a broadcasting platform. In August 2020, she started her first live stream on the StreamYard platform and today has 15-20 live weekly tv/radio broadcasts.

PBS Lawrence Jarvik, Laurence Jarvik, 1998-02-18 PBS originated with good intentions: Making the world better through education. But according to media analyst Laurence Jarvik, America's only taxpayer-supported public broadcasting network has gone astray. ... must reading for anyone who is interested in how the public broadcasting system was created, what it achieved, and where it has gone wrong. -- David Horowitz In his new book, PBS: Behind the Screen, Jarvik provides the first independent, historical account of our nation's television network. Based on years of research and scores of interviews, he tours readers through PBS's evolution, from the early days, when the network was a shining vision in the minds of educators and philanthropists, to later years, when it became the focal point of a never-ending, sometimes ugly tug-of-war between opposing political camps. PBS: Behind the Screen answers the following questions: - Does Sesame Street really educate? - What political agenda underlies PBS's hard-hitting documentary programs? - Is the real Bill Moyers the carefully crafted image viewers see on the screen? - What challenges did William F. Buckley Jr. have to overcome before Firing Line could be broadcast? - Just how much did America's favorite chef, Julia Child, really know about cooking when she started out?

Cat Whiskers and Talking Furniture John Rayburn, 2008 Having been in the business for nearly two-thirds of official broadcasting history, long-time broadcaster John Rayburn relies on his extensive experience to give this unique, first-hand account of several historic events and developments in broadcasting history.

Interactive TV Standards Steven Morris, Anthony Smith-Chaigneau, 2012-08-06 For any digital TV developer or manager, the maze of standards and specifications related to MHP and OCAP is daunting-you have to patch together pieces from several standards to gather all the necessary knowledge you need to compete worldwide. The standards themselves can be confusing, and contain many inconsistencies and missing pieces. Interactive TV Standards provides a guide for actually deploying these technologies for a broadcaster or product and application developer. Understanding what the APIs do is essential for your job, but understanding how the APIs work and how they relate to each other at a deeper level helps you do it better, faster and easier. Learn how to spot when something that looks like a good solution to a problem really isn't. Understand how the many standards that make up MHP fit together, and implement them effectively and quickly. Two DVB insiders teach you which elements of the standards that are needed for digital TV, highlight those elements that are not needed, and explain the special requirements that MHP places on implementations of these standards. Once you've mastered the basics, you will learn how to develop products for US, European, and Asian markets--saving time and money. By detailing how a team can develop products for both the OCAP and MHP markets, Interactive TV Standards teaches you how to leverage your experience with one of these standards into the skills and knowledge needed to work with the critical, related standards. Does the team developing a receiver have all the knowledge they need to succeed, or have they missed important information in an apparently unrelated standard? Does an application developer really know how to write a reliable piece of software that runs on any MHP or OCAP receiver? Does the broadcaster understand the business and technical issues well enough to deploy MHP successfully, or will their project fail? Increase your chances of success the first time with Interactive TV Standards.
