EPIC FAIL super win Serena Andrews,2014-06-25 After years juggling different jobs to support my art, my career was split mostly between web development and pop music. But, I found myself unhappy and unfocused-wondering if I was ever going to succeed... Question was: what would that success even look like? Get inside my personal lifestyle redesign as I interview 27 independent creatives about their own failure and success! They really dished the dirt about building careers, facing fears, struggles and triumphs in today's market.

10 to Win Steve Wilmer,2016-03-15 Statistics say that I'm not supposed to be here but I am, living my dream as an author, speaker and corporate trainer. I have a beautiful wife of 18 years and four amazing children who love and support me following my dreams. It hasn't always been easy. I was born with whatever the opposite of a silver spoon would be. Thankfully, I had mentors and supporters who believed in me, guided me and pulled me up along the way. Discovering these 10 principles and implementing them is leading me to success in Life & Business. I have no doubt that it can do the same for you. Steve makes it simple. He challenges me to think differently, push myself, and has taught me that we all have fears. Feel the fear and Do It Anyway. Jennifer Brantley Steve's the real deal! He passionately lives and believes everything he's writing about. He uses his awesome life story to encourage and challenge you to invest in yourself, your mission, and your future. Justin Parker I love how Steve references scriptures. You have to SEE it before you can see it. You have to dream it before it becomes a reality. Dreams + Action = REALITY! It's filled with simple everyday things you can do to minimize future global warming—and as a bonus, save money at the same time. Factor Four Ernst U.von Weizsacker,2013-10-11 Since the industrial revolution, progress has meant an increase in labour productivity. Factor Four describes a new form of progress, resource productivity, a form which meets the overriding imperative for the future (sustainability). It shows how at least four times as much wealth can be extracted from the resources we use. As the authors put it, the book is about doing more with less, but this is not the same as doing less, doing worse or doing without. In 1972, the Club of Rome published Limits to Growth, which sent shock waves around the world by arguing that we were rapidly running out of essential resources. This Report to the Club of Rome offers a solution. It lies in using resources more efficiently, in ways which can already be achieved, not at a cost, but at a profit. The book contains a wealth of examples of revolutionizing productivity, in the use of energy; from hypercars to low-energy beef; materials, from sub-surface drip irrigation to electronic books, transport, video conferencing to CyberTran, and demonstrating how much more could be generated from much less today. It explains how markets can be organized and taxes re-based to eliminate perverse incentives and reward efficiency, so wealth can grow while consumption does not. The benefits are enormous: profits will increase, pollution and waste will decrease and the quality of life will improve. Moreover, the benefits will be shared: progress will no longer depend on making ever fewer people more productive. Instead, more people and fewer resources can be employed. While for many developing countries the efficiency revolution may offer the only realistic chance of prosperity within a reasonable time span. The practical promise held out in this book is huge, but the authors show how it is up to each of us, as well as to businesses and governments, to make it happen.

My Favorite 52 Larry Cohen, 2009-06 Using an intimate 'over-the-shoulder' presentation, this book takes us through 50-plus bridge deals from the authors own experience - deals that were important to him in some way, technically interesting, or just plain fun. A former computer programmer and options trader, Larry Cohen was for many years a full-time bridge professional and part-time golfer. Now retired from serious competition, he travels from his home base in Boca Raton, Florida, to fulfill his numerous lecturing engagements, and he writes regularly for several magazines. He has twenty national championships to his name, as well as two world championship medals. He is perhaps best-known for his classic book, To Bid or not to Bid, which at the time was the best-selling book on the game since Charles Goren's heyday (it has since been surpassed by 25 Bridge Conventions You should Know).
