Jansen, is one of the first manuscripts that address the human - system interaction of Web searching in a thorough and complete manner. The authors provide an examination of Web searching from multiple levels of analysis, from theoretical overview to detailed study of term usage, and integrate these different levels of analysis into a coherent picture of how people locate information on the Web using search engines. Drawing primarily on their own research and work in the field, the authors present the temporal changes in, the growth of, and the stability of how people interact with Web search engines. Drs. Methods and Applications of Artificial Intelligence George A. Vouros,Themistoklis Panayiotopoulos,2004-04-22 Artificial intelligence has attracted a renewed interest from distinguished scientists and has again raised new, more realistic this time, expectations for future advances regarding the development of theories, models and techniques and the use of them in applications pervading many areas of our daily life. The borders of human-level intelligence are still very far away and possibly unknown. Nevertheless, recent scientific work inspires us to work even harder in our exploration of the unknown lands of intelligence. This volume contains papers selected for presentation at the 3rd Hellenic Conference on Artificial Intelligence (SETN 2004), the official meeting of the Hellenic Society for Artificial Intelligence (EETN). The first meeting was held in the University of Piraeus, 1996 and the second in the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (AUTH), 2002. SETN conferences play an important role in the dissemination of the innovative and high-quality scientific results in artificial intelligence which are being produced mainly by Greek scientists in institutes all over the world. However, the most important effect of SETN conferences is that they provide the context in which people meet and get to know each other, as well as a very good opportunity for students to get closer to the results of innovative artificial intelligence research.
