Webcam - a Novel of Terror Jack Kilborn, Joe Konrath, 2016-05-12 He's watching you. Right now-- Title page.

Webcam Daniel Miller, Jolynna Sinanan, 2014-03-12 The use of webcam, especially through Skype, has recently become established as one more standard media technology, but so far there has been no attempt to assess its fundamental nature and consequences. Yet webcam has profound implications for many facets of human life, from self-consciousness and intimacy to the sustaining of long-distance relationships and the place of the visual within social communications. Based on research in London and Trinidad, this book shows how 'always-on' webcam is becoming an entirely different phenomenon from the initial use of webcam as a videophone. Webcam is examined within the framework of 'polymedia' - that is, the new environments created by the simultaneous presence of a multiplicity of communication technologies - and used to exemplify a theory of attainment that accepts media technologies as aspects of, rather than detracting from, our basic humanity.

Moving Images John Fullerton, Astrid Söderbergh Widding, 2000-06-22 In 1888, Thomas Edison announced that he was experimenting on an instrument which does for the eye what the phonograph does for the ear, which is the recording and reproduction of things in motion. Just as Edison's investigations were framed in terms of the known technologies of the phonograph and the microscope, the essays in this collection address the contexts of innovation and reception that have framed the development of moving images in the last 100 years. Three concerns are of particular interest: the contexts of innovation and reception for moving image technologies; the role of the observer, whose vision and cognitive processes define some of the limits of inquiry and epistemological insight; and the role of new media, which, engaging with the domestic sphere as cultural interface, are transforming our understanding of public and private spheres. The 17 previously unpublished essays in Moving Images represent the best of current research in the history of this field. They make a timely and stimulating contribution to debates concerning the impact of new media on the history of cinema. Contributors include: William Boddy, Carlos Bustamante, Warren Buckland, Valeria Camporesi, Bent Fausing, Oliver Gaycken, Alison Griffiths, Christopher Hales, Jan Holmberg, Solveig Jülich, Frank Kessler, Jay Moman, Sheila C. Murphy, Pelle Snickars, Paul C. Spehr, Björn Thuresson, and Åke Walldius.

The Webcam as an Emerging Cinematic Medium Paula Albuquerque, 2018 All the world's a stage - literally so, given the ubiquitous presence of webcams recording daily life in cities. This footage, allegedly documentary, recreates cities as cinematic environments as people interact with the multitudes of cameras and screens around them. Paula Albuquerque's original research and experimental films, presented in this groundbreaking book, expose fictionalising elements in archival webcams and explore video surveillance as an urban condition that influences both perceptions of the past and visions of the future.

Webcam Savvy Clarence Jones, 2017-02-04 If you want to succeed in that next webcam job audition or news interview, you'd better learn how to do it. To get the job - or to get your point across in a news story - you need a lot of webcam savvy. Otherwise, you wind up at the unemployment office; or on the cutting room floor at the network or local TV station. Looking self-confident, relaxed, sincere, and unrehearsed takes a lot of practice. Very few of us are born with it. You also need the right webcam, and know how to set it up. We have become so accustomed to slickly produced video, you scream AMATEUR-BEGINNER using the built-in camera in a laptop, shot at a strange angle, with the clutter of your bedroom and a barking dog in the background. This book will help you choose the right webcam and microphone (they're very inexpensive); teach you how to build a simple set and place everyday lights; and how to maintain eye contact. There's another secret in this book: successful interviews need to include -- a magic formula that will impress an employer, or guarantee you'll be included in tonight's TV news story. Author Clarence Jones knows what he's writing about. He was a prize-winning TV reporter for 14 years, then an on-camera coach for government and corporate executives for 30 years. He has five other books currently in print -- one of them reviewers call the bible for news media relations.

Webcam J A Konrath, 2019-11-06 Someone is stalking webcam models. He lurks in the untouchable recesses of the black web. He's watching you. Right now. When watching is no longer enough, he comes calling. He's the last thing you'll ever see before the blood gets in your eyes. Chicago Homicide Detective Tom Mankowski (The List, Haunted House) is no stranger to homicidal maniacs. But this one is the worst he's ever chased, with an agenda that will make even the most diehard horror reader turn on all their lights, and switch off all Internet, wifi, computers, and electronic devices. Konrath reaches down into the depths of depravity and drags the terror novel kicking and cyber-screaming into the 21st century. WEBCAM by J.A. Konrath I'm texting you from inside your closet. Wanna play?:) If you are a more sensitive (or adventurous) reader, the Konrath scale rates specific categories from 1 (lowest) to 10 (highest) to give you some idea if this is your kind of book. WEBCAM by JA Konrath Scary - 8 Violent - 7 Funny - 4 Sexy - 5 Crossover - Characters also appear in the Jack Daniels Thriller series and the Jack Daniels and Associates Mystery series This book was previously published under the pen name Jack Kilborn.

Moving Images John Fullerton, Astrid Söderbergh Widding, 2000-06-22 Seventeen essays examining the impact of new media on the history of cinema. In 1888, Thomas Edison announced that he was experimenting on "an instrument which does for the eye what the phonograph does for the ear, which is the recording and reproduction of things in motion." Just as Edison's investigations were framed in terms of the known technologies of the phonograph and the microscope, the essays in this collection address the contexts of innovation and reception that have framed the development of moving images in the last one hundred years. Three concerns are of particular interest: the contexts of innovation and reception for moving image technologies; the role of the observer, whose vision and cognitive processes define some of the limits of inquiry and epistemological insight; and the role of new media, which, engaging with the domestic sphere as cultural interface, are transforming our understanding of public and private spheres. The seventeen previously unpublished essays in Moving Images represent the best of current research in the history of this field. They make a timely and stimulating contribution to debates concerning the impact of new media on the history of cinema. Looker , 2008-06-01 If the model is the exhibitionist, then I am the voyeur.—Richard Kern Richard Kern is a post-modernist punk photographer who has worked in New York city rock music and "No Wave" art circles since the 1970s. In Looker, through a series of carefully constructed vignettes, Kern's models proceed through their daily private lives, seemingly unaware of the camera. Or are they wittingly playing into the obvious cinematic intrigue? The balance of control present in each frame is a powerful and sensual statement. Looker is thought-provoking in its gentle nature, pastoral tones, and caring reflection of private innocence—but it is also freshly and stunningly erotic, silently exuberant in its portrayal of intimacy and abandon. Richard Kern's photographs are a peek into a world of mystery and eroticism.

The Camera Chris Oxlade, 2010-09 This book tells the story of the invention of the camera, including the key players, setbacks along the way, and moments of discovery.

September's Camera Jeffrey Scarborough, 2007-03 Jeff Scarborough was the only cameraman on duty at WNBC's newsroom in New York when the attacks of 9/11 began. Armed with privileged information from the '93 attack on the World Trade Center--realizing both towers were doomed--Jeff pulled out of an emergency convoy just short of the WTC as he and reporter Rob Morrison approached the burning towers. Taking charge at the scene, Jeff ordered live-truck engineer Eddie Alonzo to stay 500 feet away and told all responding crews to back-off--dangerously becoming NBC's sole cameraman broadcasting live from Ground Zero. He permitted only the live-shot reporter to join him at his camera position--and during their live broadcast, the South Tower collapsed. They ran for their lives; Jeff rescued Eddie and stayed to videotape the panic and the North Tower collapse. September's Camera is the story of that fateful day, and of a career lived on the edge of danger--as Jeff's lens captured conflict, urban riots, blackouts, serial killers, plane crashes and human frailty in all its forms.

Photography Performing Humor Liesbeth Decan, Mieke Bleyen, 2019-03-11 New perspectives on humor within photography Despite the ubiquitous presence of photographic humor in art and popular media, the phenomenon has as yet received very little scholarly attention. Focusing on staged humor rather than on comic effects of snapshot photography, this volume brings together leading scholars in the field addressing humor performed in front of the camera, often specifically created for the camera, and the performative joke-work done by the medium itself. A first section explores how photography, due to its "shattering" qualities, turns into a privileged medium for eliciting humorous effects and how humor can be discerned within the photographic event. A second section discusses the toolbox of photographic trickery (photomontage, double exposure and cinematic movement) that allows photography to mock itself. The book closes with a section on photographic wit in conceptual art, both in canonized and more locally distinct practices. With artists' pages from Paulien Oltheten, Lieven Segers and David Helbich
