was born. Through eighteen months of pure hard work from the team, Tomb Raider was released in 1996 and became the success that we see today; taking part in the mid-nineties celebrations of Brit-Pop and Girl Power. This is the story of the team who were involved in creating the first two games, then leaving the series to a new team in 1998. Lara Croft brought class, comedy, and a James Bondian role to the game, dreamt up by Toby Gard and helped to become a pitch with Paul Douglas. The game was a gamble, but because everyone at the company believed in it, it led to huge success for everyone, except for Toby and Paul. 'The Making of Tomb Raider' goes into detail of how Lara and the games were born, alongside why Toby Gard and Paul Douglas left before the sequel was released. Throughout eleven chapters of countless interviews, this book will tell you who was responsible for creating the first two games; from its levels, its music, the many voices of Lara Croft, and much more. The team also reveals all about the star of the second game; Winston the Butler, and how he came to be by Joss Charnet. Over twenty people were interviewed for this story; from the pitch for what would be Tomb Raider, alongside the challenges along the way, up until the release of Tomb Raider 2 in 1997...

Centered Presentations Jennifer Palus, Tom

Searcy, 2013-09-19 An exploration of four dimensions of presentation design and delivery: Content, Creative, Conversation, and Confidence. Content may be an issue for you or your team if you routinely find:

- You are unable to present all your slides in the allotted time.
- Your presentation falls far short of the expected duration.
- Your audience derails your agenda, focusing on other topics.
- Your audience does not seem to grasp the concepts in your presentation or the desired next steps.

Signs that may point to an issue within your creative:

- Your audience visibly winces at the color combinations or animation.
- If you lose your place when presenting, it's hard to get back on track because every slide looks essentially the same.
- Although you try not to, you find yourself reading your text-heavy slides to your audience. • You avoid sharing your presentation with your internal brand team. You or your team may need to focus on conversation if: • You are doing almost all the talking in your meetings. • You shut down conversation in order to stay on your planned timing. • You realize you've been talking for ten minutes about a topic that is not covered in your presentation content. • You think of your major point as a big "reveal" and don't want to give anything away until you get there. • You avoid rehearsal so that you will sound natural; you wing it. Signs you may have a perceived confidence issue • Audience members have told you they could not hear or understand you. • You rarely get questions from your audience. • Audience members direct questions to other members of your team. • You find yourself tongued-tied when asked to clarify a slide topic. • You hear yourself, but cannot stop, using "um" in every sentence. In each section, learn how presenters stray from center by staying in their comfort zones, and how to return to center with specific recommendations. If you or your team struggle with aspects of developing or delivering compelling presentations, this book will provide a new toolbox and shared vocabulary. Includes checklists and assessments to bring the ideas to life.

Missing Believed Killed Stuart Hadaway, 2012 During the early years of WW2 it soon became apparent that the system for tracing the remains of RAF aircrew deemed 'Missing Believed Killed' was totally inadequate. The Missing Research Section (MRS) of the Air Ministry was set up in 1941 to deal with this problem. It collected and collated intelligence reports from a wide variety of official, unofficial and covert sources in an attempt to establish the fate of missing aircrew, using forensic or semi-forensic work to identify personal effects passed on through clandestine channels or bodies washed up on Britain's shores. In 1944 the MRS a small team of fourteen men was sent to France to seek the missing men on the ground. With 42,000 men missing, the amount they achieve was limited, although a lot of useful work was carried out through contacts in the French Resistance. The book explains why, men volunteered for the job, and why they worked for so long at such a gruesome task. Facing difficulties in terrain and climate, from the Arctic Circle to the jungles of Burma and Germany and not knowing if the local people would be friendly or hostile. The book also explains how to trace RAF members through both personnel and operational records, where these records are kept and how to access them.

Video Encoding by the Numbers Jan Lee Ozer,2016-12-28 Video Encoding by the Numbers helps readers optimize the quality and efficiency of their streaming video by objectively detailing the impact of critical configuration options with industry-standard quality metrics like PSNR and SSIMplus. This takes the guesswork out of most encoding decisions and allows readers to achieve the optimal quality/data rate tradeoff. In addition, readers learn how to use tools like the Moscow University Video Quality Measurement tool, SSIMWave Quality of Experience Monitor, and FFmpeg to perform similar quality tests on their own videos. Because all videos encode differently, the tests detailed in the book involve eight different videos, including movie footage, animations, talking head footage, a music video, and Powerpoint and Camtasia-based videos. Readers first learn how to determine the ideal data rate for their videos at different resolutions. Then the book covers configuration options like bitrate control (CBR, VBR) that impacts quality and deliverability, and I-Frame, B-Frame, and reference frame decisions that impact quality and encoding time. The next three chapters focus on codec-specific configurations like Profile and preset for H.264 and HEVC, and the various configuration options available for Google's VP9. Next the book details how to choose an adaptive bitrate (ABR) technology, how to create an encoding ladder, and the most efficient ways to encode and package video into different ABR formats. Working off the groundbreaking work by Netflix and YouTube, the final chapter teaches the reader how to use per-title encoding with their own videos to create the ideal encoding ladder for each video in their library. Each chapter concludes with a section detailing how to configure the options discussed with FFmpeg, a preferred tool for high-volume video producers, including packaging into HLS and DASH formats (the latter with MP4Box). Overall readers learn how to optimally configure their encoding ladders and how to produce their videos with FFmpeg.
