Cafe Writers Anthology 2010 Café Writers, 2011 Selected works of 15 writers, member of a group based in Nevada County, California; includes poetry, short fiction, novel excerpts, and non-fiction essays, along with short biographies of each writer.

Mentor Texts Rose Cappelli, 2023-10-10 In their first edition of Mentor Texts, authors Lynne Dorfman and Rose Cappelli helped teachers across the country make the most of high-quality children's literature in their writing instruction. Mentor Texts: Teaching Writing Through Children's Literature, K-6, 2nd Edition the authors continue to show teachers how to help students become confident, accomplished writers by using literature as their foundation. The second edition includes brand-new Your Turn Lessons, built around the gradual release of responsibility model, offering suggestions for demonstrations and shared or guided writing. Reflection is emphasized as a necessary component to understanding why mentor authors chose certain strategies, literary devices, sentence structures, and words. Dorfman and Cappelli offer new children's book titles in each chapter and in a carefully curated and annotated Treasure Chest. At the end of each chapter a Think About It's Talk About It's Write About It section invites reflection and conversation with colleagues. The book is organized around the characteristics of good writing's focus, content, organization, style, and conventions. The authors write in a friendly and conversational style, employing numerous anecdotes to help teachers visualize the process, and offer strategies that can be immediately implemented in the classroom. This practical resource demonstrates the power of learning to read like writers.

Words From the Cafe: An Anthology Anna Bálint, 2022-04-10 Words From the Café: Voices of People in Recovery. This is an exciting and unusual collection of stories and poems written by people in recovery. Every Friday at Seattle's Recovery Café, in downtown Seattle, people struggling with addiction, mental illness, trauma, and homelessness come together in Anna Bálint's Safe Place Writing Circle to write and share writing. Here they discover their own unique voices and ways of shaping language to write stories and poems as part of reclaiming their lives. The literary range and breadth of human experience found in this collection flies in the face of prevailing stereotypes of some of the most marginalized members of our society. These are voices that need to be heard. In the forward, Killian Noe, Founding Director of Recovery Café, says The Safe Place Writing Circle is a small, intimate, healing community within the larger Recovery Café community. The level of knowing and being known and loving and being loved that takes place in that 'safe place' is nothing short of astounding and transformative. You will catch a glimpse of the miracles that take place in that circle as you read the following expressions, and you will likely experience that you are standing on sacred ground. Inside these pages we encounter themes as varied as living with multiple voices, and identities; memories of lost or missing parents, moments of nurture and times of madness; celebrations of music and dance, and old neighborhoods; prison life and institutionalized childhoods; growing up with a Holocaust cloud. Writers explore chance encounters with bears, blue herons, ex-wives, people who smile at us or don't, unexpected welcomes, and making peace with the aging process. They discuss waking up in a hospital, sobering up, discovering books as best friends and Academia as a form of therapy. There is humor at every turn in these gems.

Narrative Networks Brian Alleyne, 2014-12-08 We are invited to think about the now ubiquitous everyday practices of interpreting and producing narratives across a range of modalities. The result is a text that inspires readers to think in new ways about narratives, invites them to analyse narrative texts available on the Web and, for those who wish, suggests how best to employ specialist software. - Ann Phoenix, Institute of Education, University of London It's high time we have a book like this. Brian Alleyne has managed to produce the best, clearest, and most comprehensive overview of narrative theory for social scientists I have yet to see. I wish I'd had access to a book like this when I was a student. It would have made my life so much easier. It will surely become the universally recognised go-to book on the subject. - David Graeber, London School of Economics & Political Science Narrative is a fundamental means whereby we make sense of our own lives and of the world around us. The stories we tell, and are being told, shape our identities, relationships and world-views. In a rapidly changing digital society where blogging and social networking have become fundamental communication channels, the platforms for the creation and exchange of all kinds of narratives have greatly expanded. This book responds to the dynamic production and consumption of stories of all kinds in popular and academic cultures. It offers a comprehensive discussion of the underlying philosophical and methodological issues of narrative and personal narrative research as well as applying these to the current digital landscape. The book provides practical guidance on data management and use of software for the narrative researcher. Illustrated with examples from a range of fields and disciplines as well as the author's own work on hacking cultures and cultural activism, this title is a must for anyone wanting to learn about narrative approaches in social research and how to conduct successful narrative research in a digital age.

The New York Writer's Guide J. B. Miller, 2001-04 Profiling everything from classes to cyber cafes, The New York Writer's Guide sources organizations, workshops, bookshops, open-mikes, reading series, newsgroups and support groups. For the inside scoop on everything from power book-plugging protocol to the best venues for café au lait society, this is the book for you-an everything-you-need-to-know guide to the most writer-friendly city in the world.

Moe's Cafe Mark H. Larson, Robert S. Boone, 2006-10 While driving with your friends or family someplace far from home, your radiator starts steaming. You manage to find a gas station in a small town where they can fix your car, but it's going to take a few hours. You ask the mechanic if there's any place to get something to eat, and he points across the road to Moe's Cafe, a real dump. You don't have much choice, so you head inside and take a seat at the first booth on the left. So begins Moe's Cafe, one of 48 innovative and intriguing prompts for student writing. These classroom-tested prompts put students in a place or in front of a character and ask them to describe what they see. The thinking, writing, and scribbling they do for the prompts inspires them to create their own stories and poems. After writing 90-word mini-stories, students read a short story or watch a film scene to help them expand on their own creative works. A section of longer readings models writing strategies. The lessons and activities reinforce and develop skills defined by the National Council of Teachers of English as appropriate for students in grades 6-12. Good Year.

Tasty Morsels Michael Dale, Ann Welfare-Ford, Chloe Gilholy, Bridget Lucas, Chris Manley, Kieran Moore, Valerie Moyses, Devon Rosenblatt, Peter Unsworth, 2017-09-04 The second collection of writings from the Banbury Writers's Cafe. This collection is brought to you by: Max Bantleman, Michael Dale, Ann Welfare-Ford, Chloe Gilholy, Jacci Gooding, Bridget Lucas, Chris Manley, Kieran Moore, Valerie Moyses, Naomi Perkins, Devon Rosenblatt, Aaron Thomas, Peter Unsworth. We are starting work on our next lot of assignments and suggestions are always welcome! Get in touch and suggest a title of theme and we'll give it a go...

Lone Star Café Lisa Wingate, 2005 Laura Draper is having the worst day of her life. Before she knows what's happening, her career as a magazine editor, her relationship with a well-known photojournalist, and her sanity are all unraveling. She finds herself marooned at a crossroads in nowhere Texas wondering which way to turn when two very strange, elderly ladies convince Laura to come inside their little café. There, Mernalene and Hasselene serve up their special coffee, homemade buttermilk pie, and one delectable, home-grown cowboy. When you're living an hour from the nearest Wal Mart, and even further from the nearest mall, you learn to appreciate the simple things our parents and grandparents treasured. In this part of the world, life moves with a quiet simplicity, and every town is centered around the local café. – Lisa Wingate, writing about the inspiration for her Texas trilogy.

Cafe of Creativity and Inspiration For Writers Warren Brown,2022-12-31 The Café of Creativity and Inspiration for writers is open and ready to serve a delectable array of drinks and condiments. In the Café you will find a selection of poems, stories, and essays written by Warren Brown on the literary craft. These poems, articles, and stories, take the reader and the writer into a world of new literary experiences, as created by the imagination of the author. The writer shows you how he finds and develops his ideas into stories, articles, and poems. This collection of work gives the reader an opportunity to look inside the creative and imaginative world of the writer. There are essays on what it takes to be a writer and the work that goes into creating and developing ideas. In this book, you will find pieces on a variety of topics. Using every subject in this book as a key, to developing your own ideas is one of the best ways to use this book. There are a billion ideas present in the world today, it is up to every writer and storyteller to take those ideas and make them their own. Every writer is a creator of imaginary worlds. It is up to you as the reader to explore the mind of the author. As a writer, it is also up to you to open the doors to your own imagination to find new ideas and to develop them into complete stories, articles, and poems for a world of readers to enjoy. The real secret for a good writer to become a great writer is to write from the heart, as that is what connects you to your readers.

WAC and Second Language Writers Terry Myers Zawacki,Michelle Cox,2014-05-14 Editors and contributors pursue the ambitious goal of including within WAC theory, research, and practice the differing perspectives, educational experiences, and voices of second-language writers. The chapters within this collection not only report new research but also share a wealth of pedagogical, curricular, and programmatic practices relevant to second-language writers. Representing a range of institutional perspectives—including those of students and faculty at public universities, community colleges, liberal arts colleges, and English-language schools—and a diverse set of geographical and cultural contexts, the editors and contributors report on work taking place in the United States, Asia, Europe, and the Middle East.

The Naked Author - A Guide to Self-publishing Alison Baverstock,2011-11-07 New digital technology, falling production costs and a new type of company offering publishing services have contributed to self-publishing becoming a viable option for writers, rather than a poor second to finding a commercial publishing deal. Written by a publishing consultant and author, with plenty of advice from other industry professionals, this book offers an objective analysis of the processes and companies involved in self-publishing. It helps you to analyse your objectives, define and meet the needs of your audience and looks at the right kind of content for self publishing. It also provides insight into the editorial processes you will need to put your content through, how to commission services from freelancers and companies and how to get a product worthy of your name. It helps you to understand format and design options, and key issues concerning distribution, sales and marketing. Self-publishing is a costly venture and this guide will help you to scrutinise your investment choices and produce a more professional-looking product. Contains a Foreword by Mark Coker, Founder of Smashwords.

In Search of Lost Glory Asma Faiz,2022-05-01 Sindhi nationalism is one of the oldest yet least studied cases of identity politics in Pakistan. Ethnic discontent appeared in Sindh in opposition to the rule of the Bombay presidency; to the onslaught of Punjabi settlers in the wake of canal irrigation; and, most decisively, to the arrival of millions of Muhajirs (Urdu-speaking migrants) after Partition. Under Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, Benazir Bhutto and Asif Zardari, the Pakistan People's Party has upheld the Sindhi nationalist cause, even while playing the game of federalist politics. On the other side for half a century have been hardcore Sindhi nationalist groups, led by Marxists, provincial autonomists, landlord pirs and liberal intelligentsia in pursuit of ethnic outbidding. This book narrates the story of the Bhutto dynasty, the Muhajir factor, nationalist ideologues, factional feuds amongst landed elites, and the role of violence as a maker and shaper of Sindhi nationalism. Moreover, it examines the role of the PPP as an ethnic entrepreneur through an analysis of its politics within the electoral arena and beyond. Bringing together extensive fieldwork and comparative studies of ethno-nationalism, both within and outside Pakistan, Asma Faiz uncovers the fascinating world of Sindhi nationalism.
