Emerging Optical Network Technologies Krishna M. Sivalingam, Suresh Subramaniam, 2006-01-16 Optical networks have moved from laboratory settings and theoretical research to real-world deployment and service-oriented explorations. New technologies such as Ethernet PON, traffic grooming, regional and metropolitan network architectures and optical packet switching are being explored, and the landscape is continuously and rapidly evolving. Some of the important issues involving these new technologies involve the architectural, protocol, and performance related issues. This book addresses many of these issues and presents a birds eye view of some of the more promising technologies. Researchers and those pursuing advanced degrees in this field will be able to see where progress is being made and new technologies are emerging. Emerging Optical Network Technologies: Architectures, Protocols and Performance provides state-of-the-art material written by the most prominent professionals in their respective areas.

Broadband Superhighway D. W. Faulkner, A. L. Harmer, 1996 Broadband services, which depend on state-of-the-art technology, are expected to drive investment in broadband fibre optic networks. A fibre superhighway is confidently predicted within the next 10 years. This text explores the impact of emerging broadband services and technology on fibre systems design and deployment of the superhighway.

WDM Technologies: Optical Networks Achyut K. Dutta, Niloy K. Dutta, Masahiko

Fujiwara, 2004-09-04 Internet information (which is doubling every six months) travels through optical fibers. Today, optical fibers are being installed where a single fiber has the ability to carry information as much as 200 times faster than was possible just five years ago. This revolutionary capability is being achieved with technology known as wavelength division multiplexing (WDM). WDM technology relies on the fact that optical fibers can carry many wavelengths of light simultaneously without interaction between each wavelength. Thus, a single fiber can carry many separate wavelength signals or channels simultaneously. The communications industry is at the onset of new expansion of WDM technology necessary to meet the new demand for bandwidth. WDM Technologies: Optical Networks deals with the Networks facet of this field (present and future). Allows engineers working in optical communications (from systems to components) to understand the principles and mechanics of each key component they deal with for optical system design. Provides an excellent resource for engineers and researchers engaged in all aspects of fiber optic communications, such as optoelectronics, equipment/system design, and manufacturing Provides comprehensive coverage of key concepts in optical networks and their application in commercial systems

Intelligence in Communication Systems Finn Arve Aagesen, Chutiporn Anutariya, Vilas

Wuwongse, 2004-11-03 The 2004 IFIP International Conference on Intelligence in Communication Systems (INTELLCOMM2004), held in Bangkok, Thailand, 23–26 November 2004, was the successor and an expansion of SMARTNET, a series of annual conferences on intelligence in networks held during 1995–2003 under the auspices of IFIP TC6's Working Group 6. 7. The Internet and Web provide more connection facilities, hence the man-man, man-machine and machine-machine interactions will increase and communication will have an important role in modern systems.

In order to obtain effective and efficient communication, artistic, social and technical issues have to be tackled in a holistic and integrated manner. However, communication techniques, concepts and solutions which have been developed so far treat these issues separately, so that there arises a need for communication researchers and practitioners in different fields (engineering, science and arts) to meet, share their experience and explore all possibilities of developing integrated and advanced solutions which incorporate ideas from such disciplines as communication arts, art design, linguistics, Web technologies, computer system architecture and protocols, computer science and artificial intelligence. INTELLCOMM 2004 was jointly sponsored by IFIP WG 6.7: Smart Networks and WG 6.4: Internet Applications Engineering and aimed to provide an international forum which brings academia, researchers, practitioners and service providers together. The discussion areas covered the latest research topics and advanced technological solutions in the area of intelligence in communication systems, ranging from architectures for adaptable networks/services and Semantic Web/Web service technologies to intelligent service application interface and intelligent human interaction. INTELLCOMM 2004 received 112 paper submissions from 28 countries. From these, 24 were accepted, and are included in this proceedings. There were also 3 papers accepted for poster presentation, published separately.

Optical Networking: Architectures, devices, cross connects and switches Mehmet Toy, 2001 Optical networking with incredible amounts of bandwidth for relatively low cost is the key technology for satisfying the bandwidth demand required for dramatic growth in internet. This selected readings includes a collection of papers describing issues from optical components such as amplifiers to management of optical networks. Each chapter consists of tutorial papers providing an overview of the specific area and papers describing the details.

Digital Subscriber Line 2001 International Engineering Consortium, 2001

Broadband Access, WDM Metro and Network Management D. W. Faulkner, Alan Harmer, 2000
Volume 2 Broadband Access, WDM Metro and Network Management shows how new optical technologies and architectures can improve the performance of broadband access and WDM metropolitan networks. WDM passive optical networks and WDM rings feature strongly in this volume. A paper from a group of key vendors in Germany will describe a DWDM metro ring network with up to 800 Gb/s using novel add-drop multiplexers.

The Emerging Optical Network International Engineering Consortium, 2000-12 Designed to help readers understand the very latest optical developments, technologies, architectures, and market trends driving the next-generation network, this comprehensive report of all-optical networks (AON) is a critical resource for any communications company that hopes to tackle today's optical networking challenge. The future of the AON remains uncertain, but the next-generation optical network promises to provide the bandwidth flexibility, reliability, and network-management functions required to enable end-to-end wavelength services.

Wavelength Division Multiplexing Klaus Grobe, Michael Eiselt, 2013-09-12 In this book, Optical Wavelength Division Multiplexing (WDM) is approached from a strictly practical and application-oriented point of view. Based on the characteristics and constraints of modern fiber-optic components, transport systems and fibers, the text provides relevant rules of thumb and practical hints for technology selection, WDM system and link dimensioning, and also for network-related aspects such as wavelength assignment and resilience mechanisms. Actual 10/40 Gb/s WDM systems are considered, and a preview of the upcoming 100 Gb/s systems and technologies for even higher bit rates is given as well. Key features: Considers WDM from ULH backbone (big picture view) down to PON access (micro view). Includes all major telecom and datacom applications. Provides the relevant background for state-of-the-art and next-gen systems. Offers practical guidelines for system / link engineering.
