600 Days Cary Brunswick, 2019-12-20 Walking across the Peace Bridge connecting Buffalo and Ft. Erie, Ont., I'm amazed at what's happened to my life in the last, what, I'll figure it out, yeah, 600 days or so. When did it all start? Where did it go right, or wrong as most people might say? It's pretty clear my own country only wants me so I can be sent to Vietnam to fight and kill or be killed. And if I'm not snatched up by the Army, what, I'll continue to be harassed and thrown in jails for no good reasons. No way; I'm making the best decision by getting out. I just hope I can find her in Toronto and that she's OK.

600 Hours of Edward Craig Lancaster, 2012 Edward Stanton is a man hurtling headlong toward middle age. His mental illness has led him to be sequestered in his small house in a small city, where he keeps his distance from the outside world and the parents from whom he is largely estranged. For the most part, Edward sticks to things he can count on ... and things he can count. But over the course of 25 days (or 600 hours, as Edward prefers to look at it) several events puncture the walls Edward has built around himself. In the end, he faces a choice: Open his life to experience and deal with the joys and heartaches that come with it, or remain behind his closed door, a solitary soul.
