The Desert Run John Bonallack,1999 John Bolland and his son Dan set out to run the toughest running race on earth, seven days in the Sahara desert carrying all their own food and gear. Describes their training, the gear they carried, the race organisation and the race itself. Suggested level: primary.

The Desert Run Gregg Dunnett,2018-05-16 Jake is just out of university and right out of cash. His former classmates are off on adventures or getting on with their lives, while he's stuck in a dead end job and can't get a break. Until his best friend comes up with a plan to reverse both their fortunes.

Desert Run Betty Webb,2013-01 Things are never easy for Scottsdale private eye Lena Jones. Her partner in Desert Investigations, Jimmy Siswan, is leaving for an upscale wife and a job at Sun Microsystems. Her old Captain at the Scottsdale PD is off home to Brooklyn. She's doing security for Warren Quinn, director of a documentary being shot at Papago Park about the German POW camp and the "great escape" of Christmas Eve, 1944, when some prisoners tunneled out and fled. And one surviving escapee, Kapitan zur Zee Erik Ernst, a man in his nineties confined to a wheelchair after a boating accident, has just been murdered. Worse, his Ethiopian caregiver begs Lena to clear him. Lena, experienced in probing the past for answers to the central mystery of her own life - who is she? - learns that Ernst and two other POWs hid out in the rugged Superstitions. Nearby, on Christmas night, a whole farm family, the Bollingers, was slaughtered. A jury didn't convict the only survivor, the teenage son. What might Chess Bollinger know about Ernst - and vice versa? And how much can Lena trust Quinn, either as a client, a witness, or a lover? A complex, stunning case based on real Arizona history, journalist Betty Webb, author of Desert Noir, Desert Wives, and Desert Run, spins an evocative, haunting story.

Desert Run Betty Webb,2006 Traveling to Philadelphia to see a concert, Stella Crown and her friends find themselves in the middle of a murder investigation after the lead singer of the band is murdered and Stella's friend Jordan Granger is accused of the crime.

Desert Run Neil Hunter,2015 Bodie was trailing three men who'd escaped from Yuma Pen - three men he'd helped to put there in the first place. But when they shot his horse out from under him, he found himself set afoot in the searing desert.If he was to turn the tables on the men now hunting him, he needs to reach the life-saving waters at Pinto Wells. But just when he figured he's in the clear, he found another shock awaiting him.A face from his past. An equally dedicated killer - thought to be dead - who's tracked Bodie down and plans to exact his own vengeance.Bodie figured he was safe after dealing with the escapees. But now he faces another challenge from the man called Silverbuck.This time it's a struggle to the death, with no quarter and only one will walk away from the desert run...

Desert Run Marshall Thornton,2011-01 Don Harris, a piano player on the run after killing a Chicago mobster's son in a bar fight, falls for a man he picks up in a gay bar, putting them both in harm's way. Harlan has problems of his own, and Don knows he shouldn't get involved but he can't help but step in. To save himself, Don's got to save Harlan.

Run! Dean Karnazes,2012-02-28 In his follow-up to the best-selling Ultra-Marathon Man, world-renowned ultra marathoner Dean Karnazes chronicles his unbelievable exploits and explorations in gripping detail; Karnazes runs for days on end without rest, across some of the most exotic and inhospitable places on earth, including the Australian Outback, Antarctica, and the back alleys of New Jersey. From the downright hilarious to the truly profound, the stories in Run! provide readers with the ultimate escape and offer a rare glimpse into the mindset and motivation of an extreme athlete, one who has, according to The Philadelphia Inquirer, "Not only pushed the envelope but blasted it to bits." Karnazes addresses pain and perseverance, and he also charts the emotional as he pushes to the edges of human achievement. The tales of the friendships he's cultivated on his many adventures around the world warm the heart, and are sure to captivate and inspire readers whether they run great distances, modest distances, or not at all. The hardcover edition was met with the enthusiastic support of Karnazes's devoted fan base, and word-of-mouth excitement as well as media coverage from LIVE! with Regis and Kelly brought the book to the attention of scores of new readers. Karnazes's colorful tales of his extreme running adventures are as entertaining as they are innately human, giving the book potential as a perennial paperback favorite.

Running Man Charlie Engle,2017-09-05 After a decade-long addiction to crack cocaine and alcohol, Charlie Engle hit rock bottom after a near-fatal six-day binge ended in a hail of bullets. Then he found running, and it has helped keep him sober, focused and alive. He began to take on the most extreme endurance races, such as the 155-mile Gobi March, and developed a reputation as an inspirational speaker. However, after he made the documentary Running the Sahara, narrated by Matt Damon, which followed him on a 4500-mile crossing of the desert and helped raise $6 million, he was sent to prison after failing to complete his mortgage application properly. It was while he was in jail that he became known as 'The Running Man' as he pounded the prison yard, and soon his fellow inmates were joining him, finding new hope through running. Now, in his brilliantly written and powerful account, Engle tells the story of his life and how running has brought him so much pleasure and peace. Like such classics as Born to Run or Running with the Kenyans, this is a book that anyone who has ever found solace in the freedom of running will enjoy--Google Books.

Desert Run Betty Webb,2006 With her business struggling and her trusted partner leaving, the only stable thing in private investigator Lena Jones's life is her current job: handling security for a documentary company. It's easy money until the production's central witness, Nazi ex-POW Erik Ernst, is beaten to death. One explosive clue after another leads Lena back to Ernst's long ago escape from an Arizona POW camp and a trail of suspects who could have delivered brutal final justice. But then Lena's longtime reporter friend is murdered. Suddenly, Lena is plunged into another mystery, the horrifying decades old massacre of a local family. Could Ernst have been responsible or is the truth even more horrifying? Secrets rear up like lethal copperheads as Lena tries to separate grim truth from a maze of agendas and sinister lies. And a killer is only a breath away from rewriting the past and erasing Lena's future.

Trail Blazer Ryan Sandes,2016-03-01 What does it take to run a six-day race through the world's harshest deserts? Or 100 miles in a single day at altitudes that would leave you breathless just walking? More than that, though: what is it like to win these races? South Africa's ultra-trail-running superstar Ryan Sandes has done just that. Since bursting onto the international trail-running scene by winning the first multistage race he ever entered – the brutal Gobi March – Ryan has gone on to win various other multistage and single-day races around the globe. Written with bestselling author and journalist Steve Smith, Trail Blazer – My Life as an Ultra-distance Trail Runner recounts the life story of this intrepid sportsman, from his experiences as a rudderless party animal to becoming a world-class athlete, and includes details on his training regimes, race strategies and aspirations for future sporting endeavours. Sports enthusiasts will enjoy the adrenaline-inducing trials and tribulations of one of South Africa's most awe-inspiring athletes, while endurance-sport participants – from beginners to aspirant pros – will benefit from his insights and advice. As Professor Tim Noakes says in the Foreword to this book: 'However much we might think we know and understand, there are some phenomena which now, and perhaps forever, we will never fully comprehend. We call such happenings "enigmas". Or even miracles. Ryan Sandes is one such.'

Running the Sahara Marcel Nickler,2021-09-02 Running the Sahara is more than my experience of participating in the Marathon des Sables 2017.

Though much of the book is about my time in the desert, and I talk about my preparation and the equipment I used, the book is also profoundly personal. I tried my best to explore my passion for running and life. I hope the reader finds it entertaining and inspiring to follow me from meeting Herr Hammermann during my first marathon to my finish of the nearly 250-kilometer race in the Moroccan Sahara. It is a book about the gift of life, so there are some disappointments and moments of despair, but there are also triumphs and the sublime. I believe when dreams close, other dreams open, and that by setting goals and being disciplined, all of us can shift the balance and get to where we want to be. What started as a book about the Marathon des Sables turned into the story of my life.

Running to Extremes Lisa Tamati,2013 Lisa Tamati takes on some of the world's most extreme ultraraces in an inspiring look at the reality of a long-distance runner Lisa Tamati gets asked one question more than any other: why do you do it? Here she attempts to answer that question and many more about ultramarathon running. In the past few years, Lisa has taken part in some of the most grueling races on earth. Not content with having run the Badwater Ultramarathon once, she's been back and done it a second time. She's also completed the Gobi March and a race in the Egyptian Sahara. However, none of these could have prepared her for her greatest challenge to date—La Ultra, a 138-mile, nonstop race over the two Himalayan mountain passes. This book tells the stories behind these races and provides plenty of advice for runners of all levels and distances. Filled with training tips, gear lists, information on nutrition and supplements, advice on mental preparation and, most importantly, a focus on how to keep healthy while training and racing, it will inspire and motivate runners and nonrunners alike.

Running to Extremes Steve Pitt,Ray Zahab,2011-08-30 Ray Zahab was always the last to be picked for team games. Eventually, he quit trying and as he got older, he took up smoking and drinking. But after his grandfather and uncle died, and his father suffered a stroke, Ray realized he had to take charge of his life. Ray gave up his destructive habits and started looking for new challenges. When he read about the 160-km Yukon ultramarathon, he knew he had to give it a try. Everyone thought he was crazy. Ray had never even run in a regular marathon. One ultramarathon quickly led to another and Ray now combines his zeal for the race with a passion for fundraising.

Desert Running Notes Ru Ru Sho Sho Publish,2019-09-02 This blank lined journal is a perfect multi-purpose notebook. Run run run run! Ultramarathon Mom Holly Zimmermann,2018 With condemning comments and dubious looks from other moms, Holly Zimmermann, mother of four young children, endeavors to take on some of the world's most difficult and dangerous foot races. A grueling 257-kilometer ultramarathon through the Sahara Desert, written in a daily journal-style format, is the core of the story. The brutally hot days of running under a scorching sun, living on granola bars and nuts, and the ice-cold nights sleeping on the ground of an open tent during a sand storm are balanced with heartwarming stories of friendship and comradery. Interspersed between the adventures in the Sahara, Holly recalls a race up the snow-covered Zugspitze, the highest mountain in Germany, and being chased for half a mile by a rabid sheep, having a falcon drag its talons across her head, and how two bombs went off before her eyes at the finish line of the Boston Marathon. After having conquered the Sahara Desert, the setting for her next challenge shifted to the opposite extreme at the end of that same year: Greenland, for the Polar Circle Marathon. Temperatures cold enough to cause frostbite within minutes and gale force winds greeted the runners at the starting line on the Arctic ice cap. With chains on her running shoes and four layers of clothing, the book goes on to describe the most beautiful sunset imaginable: hues of pink, gold, and red shimmering off the blue and silver of the ice below her feet. What makes this book distinctive are the Forrest-Gump-like happenstances which occur throughout, brought in as flashbacks between the days and nights in the desert. A colorful cast of characters as training partners include the world champion of ultradistance cycling as well as the grandson of Italian fashion icon Salvatore Ferragamo. Training, planning, and gear for ultramarathons as well as nutritional tips for fueling the body in preparation and during such events are also described, always with a touch of sarcastic humor. Ultramarathon Mom: From the Sahara to the Arctic tells a unique story and delivers an impactful message: live your dreams.

Born to Run Christopher McDougall, 2010-12-09 A New York Times bestseller 'A sensation ... a rollicking tale well told' - The Times At the heart of Born to Run lies a mysterious tribe of Mexican Indians, the Tarahumara, who live quietly in canyons and are reputed to be the best distance runners in the world; in 1993, one of them, aged 57, came first in a prestigious 100-mile race wearing a toga and sandals. A small group of the world's top ultra-runners (and the awe-inspiring author) make the treacherous journey into the canyons to try to learn the tribe's secrets and then take them on over a course 50 miles long. With incredible energy and smart observation, McDougall tells this story while asking what the secrets are to being an incredible runner. Travelling to labs at Harvard, Nike, and elsewhere, he comes across an incredible cast of characters, including the woman who recently broke the world record for 100 miles and for her encore ran a 2:50 marathon in a bikini, pausing to down a beer at the 20 mile mark.
