Dmi Okey Eni, 2016-04-26 Dictatorship, Military rule was the order of the day in Africa, not long ago. But Africans fought for democratic rule, many were killed, many were brutally murdered by despotic Military rulers. This is the story of the struggle for constitutional government in Nigeria. The S.S. Squad of the Directorate of Military Intelligence, wielded the power of life and death over every Nigerian. Top politicians and business executives who had sympathy for pro-democracy struggle in Nigeria were gruesomely murdered. Inspector Fred Ugo of the Homicide section of Nigerian Police Force headquarters was assigned to lead the investigation. The tread of the investigation led to a second killer who sneaks in and murder the victims before the arrival of the Elite SS Squad Of the Directorate of Military Intelligence. Three people were on trail of this mysterious killer, Captain Sabo Yakubu, the leader of the SS Strike Squad of the Directorate of Military Intelligence. Inspector Fred Ugo, and fiery lawyer and pro-democracy activist Rotimi Jegede. Where will the trail lead to?

D. M. I. Okey Eni, 2016-05-20 This is a story about a killer group established by a despotic military ruler in Nigeria to eliminate perceived enemies of the government, who were agitating for a return to democratic governance. It began with a covert operation staged by the SS Squad of DMI, to eliminate Chief Femi John, a business mogul and financier of pro-democracy activities. It was led by Captain Sabo Yakubu, who when he shot his way to the target's bedroom, found him dead. Inspector Fred Ugo of force headquarters was assigned to investigate the murder. Rotimi Jegede a fiery human rights activist and popular lawyer had a meeting with Chief John the next day. He felt threatened and called a world press conference the next day to insinuate that the government murdered Chief John. He organized a nation wide civil unrest the type that has not been seen in Africa before in protest. Meanwhile back at the DMI office Sabo's boss did not believe his account that he found the target dead, and charged him to unravel who the mysterious killer is. Sabo started tailing one of the operatives of SS Squad Sergeant Jide Olokun, who was top on the list of his suspects. All the pointers in Fred's investigation kept revealing that government was responsible for the murder. Back home Fred was having a running battle with his live-in lover Gini about getting married. At the age of 35, Fred was getting the heat from his parents and relatives to get married. Rotimi was having serious personal battles of his own. At the age of 43, he was still single and lives alone with his steward. He was battling with Indian hemp addiction, alcohol addiction and frolicking with prostitutes. Fred discovered that one of Chief John's aides helped the killers with information; he wanted to use him to apprehend the killers. However, when the aide contacted DMI demanding Fred's death, Sabo was sent by his boss to case out the aide's residence for a possible strike. That night the mysterious killer murdered the aide. When Sabo was sent with his team to Ibadan to eliminate Alhaja Mogaji, another pro-democracy activist, he found her murdered but upon brief examination of the crime scene, he discovered a tiny piece of hair belonging to the mysterious killer. Meanwhile Fred discovered that all the people killed were not killed because of their pro-democracy activities, but because they had in their possession a document from FBI indicting the Head of State for drug trafficking. Sabo matched the hair with that of the SS Squad members and even with that of the Head of State without any result. However, that of the CSO to the Head of State was positive; Sabo reported him to the Head of State and thought that was the end of the matter. Rotimi was murdered, Sabo killed Fred, and the mysterious killer, eventually killed Sabo. Find out who the mysterious killer is?

Breakfast in Saigon DMI MacDonald, 2020-11-05 With Saigon surrounded, the CIA, Army, and South Vietnam's conflicted leadership waver between denial and panic, overwhelmed by the historic moment. As the Northern onslaught approaches, southern collaborators face a terrible fate as the Americans ready to leave. The bravery and insubordination of a few rogues will provide a tenuous and temporary lifeline, and demonstrate the sheer power of the human condition. BREAKFAST IN SAIGON is a political war drama rooted in painful authenticity. It is about America's last gasp in Vietnam, not the fight but the evacuation, and its terrible impact on America's name, its servicemen and their friends. Each character will have to decide what an American promise is worth. It's unforgivingly bleak but not without its redeeming forces of good and the altruistic actions of a few, counterbalancing the harrowing choices and pain that permeates the story. This is a storytelling world as real as it can be, textured by the blood, sweat, and tears of many that will ripple through history. It's dark, heartbreaking viewing, but like the most memorable tales of war, it's fuelled by the enduring power of the human will and the immense strength of the human condition.
