CPR/AED for the Professional Rescuer American Red Cross,2006 This New American Red Cross CPR/AED for the Professional Rescuer Participant's Manual and course reflect changes based on the 2005 Consensus on Science for CPR and Emergency Cardiovascular Care (ECC) and the Guidelines 2005 for First Aid. Changes to this program and manual include simplifications to many of the CPR skill sequences, which helps improve retention. There have also been changes to help improve the quality of CPR. The integration of CPR skills into the operation of AEDs had changed to help improve survival from sudden cardiac arrest. Professional rescuers are now trained to use AEDs on adults and children. Information has been updated and added to this program to help professional rescuers administer epinephrine, aspirin and fixed-flow-rate oxygen. The skills learned in this course include adult, child and infant rescue breathing, conscious and unconscious choking, CPR, two-rescuer CPR and adult and child AED. Additional training can be added to this course including bloodborne pathogens training and emergency oxygen administration. While the skills and knowledge that professional rescuers use are increasing, this training will help you meet your most important responsibility as a professional rescuer- the responsibility to save lives.

Preppers First Aid Kit Darryl Tubbs,2014-12-15 Don't get caught off guard. Read this complete guide on to be prepared for the next disaster. The importance of keeping a first aid kit should never be underestimated. The practice of keeping a first aid kit not only in the house but also in the workplace or in the car is strongly recommended because you do not know when accidents or emergencies will take place. However, the sad news is that, only a few people have the habit of preparing for these accidents. Most people do not see the importance of maintaining a first aid kit and ensuring that all the components of the kit are usable and are far from their expiration dates. In addition to homes and cars, factories and business buildings must also have a first aid kit in designated areas. If the business building is huge and have a lot of people working there, first aid kits must be present in every section of the building. Emergency preparedness authorities have standards for determining the number of first aid kits in specific areas depending on the population in the area.
