Become Rich Too Brian The Lifeologist Mbengo, 2020-11 Brian says becoming rich should be a matter of choice. There are about 5 million millionaires in the United States of America alone. Amongst them are teenagers who earned their own millions. There are people who haven't yet been born who will come into this world and become richer than you. Some are babies as we speak but in a few years they will be on Forbes' rich people's list. The question the Lifeologist asks is this: What does a 19 year old millionaire know about money that a 50 year old poor man still hasn't figured out? The answer to that question is the reason Brian wrote this book. He wants to inform you that there is a formula to becoming a millionaire. It's not the Law of Attraction. It's not a Secret. And it's not a Rich Dad Poor Dad scenario. The real problem is that, 'How to make money' is a subject that everybody avoids like the plague. It is not taught in school or at home. For this reason many of us have accepted that Poverty is the villain in the drama of our existence, with sufficient reputational capital to cause us pain and suffering. It is a brutal psychological weapon of mass destruction. It has been stealing our health and our joy, and has tested our limits. It keeps us on our toes and forces us to live the life we do not like. It has embarrassed and tormented many of us. We are raised to survive it or perish, and sadly many people just give up and perish. Yet, with this method that Brian is proposing, poverty is a force that we can easily overcome. The Lifeologist says, refuse to perish. He himself blundered in the dark for many years until he discovered the way out. He now wants to share this revelation with everyone. He boldly claims that you can become a millionaire within the next 4 years. In all those years that you have been working hard trying to get rich, did it ever occur to you that the entire system from primary education right up to University was rigged to keep you poor? How else can you explain that the rich keep getting richer while the poor keep getting poorer? You may be working hard, putting in the hours and dutifully paying your dues but for some mysterious reason financial wealth has eluded you. What could be the reason? Are you cursed, jinxed, bewitched, or perhaps the gods have not favoured you? None of the above! The Lifeologist will show you, both the method used to keep you poor and, how to escape it. As you read this mind altering book, my warm heart is hopeful that for you the change will be swift and immediate, but my cold and calculating mind is aware that too much truth can frighten some people and they will go into shock and denial. Some will become angry at their school teachers for teaching the wrong things, while others will be angry with their government for years of indoctrination. For years Brian toiled, looking for that breakthrough but it never came, until in anger he exclaimed, Enough is enough! There's got to be a way even for people like me! Then he found it. He begins by saying, I wish someone had written this book and made it mandatory reading when I was 12 years old. Regrettably nobody did. He explains that you must create something of value which you can use as your personal currency. You then use this value to trade for the things you desire. Look around you. Can you identify any needs that people have? Can you see any problems that the people in your neighbourhood have? Do you have any marketable skill, talent or ability that can be deployed to solve any of those problems? Brian says, the bigger the problem you can solve the more you will be paid. Value is attached to the size of your solution. Package it well and sell it efficiently and money will come knocking on your door. But this is just the tip of the iceberg. You can start with as little as 1 cent and in the next few years become the richest person in the world. Brian has written the kind of book that a skeptic like him would go out and buy.
