Realtor for Life Duane Duggan, 2015-12-11 What's it mean to be a REALTOR(r) for Life? First of all, an agent needs to become a REALTOR(r)! Not all real estate agents are REALTORS(r). The term REALTOR(r) is the exclusive designation of members of the National Association of REALTORS(r) and its local boards. REALTOR(r) is listed in the US patent office as a registered trademark. Licensing is just the first step in an agent's career. Once an agent makes the commitment to being a REALTOR(r), they subscribe to the REALTORS(r) Code of Ethics, which was first adopted in 1913. Knowing and following the Code of Ethics sets the REALTOR(r) member apart from other real estate professionals. Since 1913, The Code of Ethics has evolved and changes are usually made each year to keep up with new issues in the real estate industry. REALTORS are required to take an ethics refresher course every four years to keep abreast of the changes. The Code of Ethics is known as the golden thread of the industry, dedicated to raising the standards of professionalism and service in real estate. The Code provides a guide for how REALTORS(r) interact with each other, and work toward furthering clients' interests. Since 2013, The Code consists of 17 Articles, 71 Standards of Practice, and 131 explanatory cases. An individual REALTOR(r) member's local Board of REALTORS(r) is responsible for enforcing the code. REALTOR(r) for Life from my point of view The majority of REALTORS(r) have had other careers before going into real estate. For some reason, my first year of college, I declared my major to be in Business with an emphasis in Real Estate. I became a REALTOR(r) and started selling real estate as my first position out in the work world. As of 2015, I have been a REALTOR(r) for 37 years, truly a REALTOR(r) for my entire business life. REALTOR (r) for Life from the client's point of view One of the most rewarding parts of my career is that many of my clients have chosen me to be their REALTOR(r) for Life. Often, I have met someone and helped them buy their first home. I have helped some clients buy 3 or 4 personal residences in their life. In some cases I am even preparing to work with the 3rd generation of clients in a family! In addition to buying homes, I have also helped them build real estate portfolios. I have helped them save for college or retirement through real estate. I have helped them buy real estate within their retirement account and do 1031 Exchanges to grow their portfolio. I've helped find college condos for their kids. Because I have met and know thousands of REALTORS(r) personally I help them find a REALTOR(r) wherever they know anyone buying or selling across the country and now the globe. Toward the end of their life, I help with consolidating real estate investments, down sizing, and ultimately working with their estate planning attorney. More than once I have been named in a will to be the REALTOR(r) to sell the house. As REALTORS(r), we always need to keep in mind we are not attorneys, tax experts, mortgage loan officers, security dealers or financial planners. It is important to know about all the various ideas discussed in this book, but also very important to have a team of experts that you can rely upon to help your clients with their decisions relative to the areas that we are not licensed to perform. The main intent of this book is to help you be the trusted advisor for your clients on all matters real estate, and in return they will call you their REALTOR(r) for Life. I want to provide you with a resource that you can read all the way through and then keep ready as a reference. My hope is that you will get an idea from this book that will enhance your or your client's life.

Communities in Action National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine,Health and Medicine Division,Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice,Committee on Community-Based Solutions to Promote Health Equity in the United States,2017-04-27 In the United States, some populations suffer from far greater disparities in health than others. Those disparities are caused not only by fundamental differences in health status across segments of the population, but also because of inequities in factors that impact health status, so-called determinants of health. Only part of an individual's health status depends on his or her behavior and choice; community-wide problems like poverty, unemployment, poor education, inadequate housing, poor public transportation, interpersonal violence, and decaying neighborhoods also contribute to health inequities, as well as the historic and ongoing interplay of structures, policies, and norms that shape lives. When these factors are not optimal in a community, it does not mean they are intractable: such inequities can be mitigated by social policies that can shape health in powerful ways. Communities in Action: Pathways to Health Equity seeks to delineate the causes of and the solutions to health inequities in the United States. This report focuses on what communities can do to promote health equity, what actions are needed by the many and varied stakeholders that are part of communities or support them, as well as the root causes and structural barriers that need to be overcome.

Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 National Research Council,Institute of Medicine,Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on the Science of Children Birth to Age 8: Deepening and Broadening the Foundation for Success, 2015-07-23 Children are already learning at birth, and they develop and learn at a rapid pace in their early years. This provides a critical foundation for lifelong progress, and the adults who provide for the care and the education of young children bear a great responsibility for their health, development, and learning. Despite the fact that they share the same objective - to nurture young children and secure their future success - the various practitioners who contribute to the care and the education of children from birth through age 8 are not acknowledged as a workforce unified by the common knowledge and competencies needed to do their jobs well. Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 explores the science of child development, particularly looking at implications for the professionals who work with children. This report examines the current capacities and practices of the workforce, the settings in which they work, the policies and infrastructure that set qualifications and provide professional learning, and the government agencies and other funders who support and oversee these systems. This book then makes recommendations to improve the quality of professional practice and the practice environment for care and education professionals. These detailed recommendations create a blueprint for action that builds on a unifying foundation of child development and early learning, shared knowledge and competencies for care and education professionals, and principles for effective professional learning. Young children thrive and learn best when they have secure, positive relationships with adults who are knowledgeable about how to support their development and learning and are responsive to their individual progress. Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 offers guidance on system changes to improve the quality of professional practice, specific actions to improve professional learning systems and workforce development, and research to continue to build the knowledge base in ways that will directly advance and inform future actions. The recommendations of this book provide an opportunity to improve the quality of the care and the education that children receive, and ultimately improve outcomes for children.
