A Study on National Stock Exchange of India B. J. Queensly Jeyanthi, 2010 A growing economy has an insatiable demand for funds. Financial markets and financial institutions channelise funds. Financial markets and financial institutions channelise funds from savers to investors, thus generating capital, an important factor of production. Financial markets act as a link between investors and the corporate entities and facilitate technological upgradation in the industrial sector by utilizing the funds invested by the public. An active financial market promotes the growth of the primary market by assuring liquidity and continuous marketability. The corporate entities and the government raise resources from the securities market to meet their obligation and make investments. Securities market in India has grown in terms of amount raised from the market, the number of listed stocks, market capitalisation, trading volume and turnover on stock exchanges and other intermediaries. Qualitative parameters such as establishment of nationwide serene based trading system, dematerialization and electronic transfer of securities, rolling settlements, and sophisticated risk management have also been introduced in the stock markets. These quantitative and qualitative parameters have also grown exponentially in NSE. These changes have greatly improved the efficiency, transparency, depth and safety of market. Availability of adequate, up-to-date, correct and critical price sensitive information, such as bonus announcements, mergers, new line of business, political and economic information is very essential for market participants to make wise investment decisions. The efficiency of the market depends upon its ability to disseminate all the information to the investors through the share prices.

INTRODUCTION OF BSE AND NSE Dr. G. S. Lodhi, 2021-05-05

Stock Market in India Saloni Gupta, 2010 A stock (or share) market deals mainly in corporate securities. The securities are chiefly in the form of equity shares and debentures. The function of the stock market is two-fold: (a) to arrange for the raising of new capital (primary market function) and (b) to provide liquidity to existing securities (secondary market function). There are 24 recognized stock exchanges in India, including the Over the Counter Exchange of India (OTCEI) for small and new companies, the old established Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE), and the National Stock Exchange (NSE) that was set up as a model exchange to provide nationwide services to investors. At the end of March 2010, 4,977 companies were listed on the BSE, which is the largest exchange in the country. The number of securities available for trading under the equities segment at NSE at the end of April 2010 was 1,872. This book provides a comprehensive account of the working of India's stock market, focusing on reforms introduced during the post-liberalization (1991 onwards) period. It traces recent trends in the secondary market and offers empirical evidence of the level of efficiency and the degree of volatility in the Indian stock market.

Stock Exchange Trading in India Lakshmi Chandra Gupta, 1992

SHARE MARKET Ummed Singh, 2021-05-09 Share means part. The market is the place where you can buy and sell. In a literal sense, the stock market is a place to buy and sell a stake in a listed company. There are two major stock exchanges in India called the Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE) and National Stock Exchange (NSE). In BSE or NSE, shares of a listed company are bought and sold through a broker. In the stock market, however, bonds, mutual funds, and derivatives are also traded. What does it mean to buy shares? Suppose a company listed in the NSE has issued a total of 10 lakh shares. According to the proposal of that company, the number of shares you buy, you own that share in that company. The number of shares to be given to a person or group at the time the company issues shares is up to its discretion. To buy/sell shares from the stock market, you have to take the help of a broker. The value of shares of a listed company is recorded in BSE / NSE. The value of the shares of all listed companies fluctuates according to their profit-making potential. All the stock markets are controlled by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI or SEBI). How does a company get listed in BSE / NSE? To get listed in the stock market, the company has to enter into a written agreement with the stock market. After this, the company submits all its necessary documents to the capital market regulator SEBI. After this, the company keeps giving information about its activities to the stock market from time to time. These specifically include such information, which affects the interests of investors. This eBook is a guide and serves as a first guide. In addition, please get expert advice. or you can write to ummedsingh7427@gmail.com for any query, we will be happy to help you. Thank you,

The National Stock Exchange of India Has a Volatile Stock Market. C. Miya, 2023-04-13 Stock exchanges are the business of bringing purchasers and vendors of stocks and securities together. They are composed of a composed marketplace, either enterprise or mutual organization, where individuals from the organization accumulate to exchange organization stocks or different securities. Stock trades encourage for the issue and recovery of securities and other budgetary instruments. The exchange on an exchange is only by members and stock representative, taking a load off on the trade. The National Stock Exchange (NSE) was India's first completely computerized electronic trade with an across the nation nearness which set up in November 1992.

Equity Markets in India Shveta Singh, P.K. Jain, Surendra Singh Yadav, 2016-05-06 The book presents a comprehensive view of the Indian equity markets over the past two decades (1994-2014). Equity markets constitute the most important segment of stock exchanges; in fact, the status of equity returns is, by and large, considered as a barometer of the state of a country's economy. Returns earned by the equity investors on their funds invested in equity markets have become a decisive factor in the growth of such markets. In this context, the book discusses all the major aspects of equity returns and also conducts a disaggregative analysis based on underlying factors like age, size, ownership structure, industry affiliation/sector, among others, to explain the factors affecting returns and risk. While on the one hand the study ascertains the market rates of return (earned) on equities from the investors' perspective (by including both the capital gains and the dividend income), it also shows how to compute the rates of returns on equities from the corporate perspective (that is, rate of return earned on equity funds). It further assesses the required/expected rate of return and examines the volatility in stock returns, with a focus on its behaviour during the period of the study. It deepens investors' understanding of equity investment, helping them to make more-informed investments. While of interest to the investor community, this book also contributes significantly to the existing literature on market returns and is a valuable reference resource for academics, researchers and market participants, financial institutions and other intermediaries, regulators and policy makers.

Momentum Trading on the Indian Stock Market Gagari Chakrabarti, Chitrakalpa Sen, 2013-03-27 This study is an exploration of the Indian stock market, focusing on the possible presence of momentum trading. One thing, however, should be noted. While it is true that momentum trading, which tends to generate speculative bubbles, may result in a financial market crash, its nature in contrast might depend on the nature of the economy itself. The study, while exploring the presence and nature of momentum trading on the Indian stock market in recent years, seeks to relate it to significant structural breaks in the Indian or global economy. To be precise, it outlines a potential correlation between the instability in the stock market and the speculative trading on the market, exploring the question of whether it is human psychology that drives financial markets. In the process, the choice of a significant structural break has been obvious: the global financial meltdown of 2007-2008 – a crisis that has often been referred to as the worst ever since the crash of 1929. While analyzing the nature of momentum trading on the Indian stock market with regard to the financial crisis of 2007-08, the study takes into account two major representatives of the market, the BSE (Bombay Stock Index) and NSE (National Stock Index), for the period 2005 to 2012. This study seeks to answer a few important questions. First of all, it tries to unveil the underlying structure of the market. In doing so, it examines the following issues: (i) What was the latent structure of the Indian stock market leading up to the crisis of 2007-08? Does the structure offer insights into designing profitable trading strategies? (ii) Is it possible to construct a profitable portfolio on the Indian stock market? (iii) Is there any profitable trading strategy on the Indian stock market? While exploring these issues, the study delves deeper, breaking the whole period down into two sub-periods, before the crisis of 2008 and after the crisis. The purpose of this division is to determine whether there has been any discernible change in the market structure since the shock.

Forecasting India's NIFTY IT Index Rajveer Rawlin,Dhanya ML,2021-10-27 Master's Thesis from the year 2021 in the subject Business economics - Banking, Stock Exchanges, Insurance, Accounting, grade: 1, , language: English, abstract: The purpose of this research is to forecast the following day's closing price for a specific share of a company in the stock market using the Hidden Markov Model. In this paper, the Hidden Markov Model is used to predict some of the stocks of interconnected airline markets. The researchers have developed the Hidden Markov Model for forecasting time series. As a result of its ability to model dynamic systems, this model is widely used for the recognition of model and problem classifications. In this article, the researchers examined trends in the historical data set. They inserted the appropriate neighboring prices to the datasets and predicted the next day's exchange. Data collection was secondary. The secondary market was collected from Southwest Airlines for 1.5 years (approximately) from September 17, 2002, to December 16, 2004. The observations of the input data are continuous rather than discrete. The sample size is 4 airline firms (British Airlines, Delta Airlines, Southwest Airlines, and Ryanair Holdings Ltd.) The NIFTY IT index captures the performance of the Indian Information Technology (IT) companies. The NIFTY IT index consists of 10 companies listed on the National Stock Exchange (NSE). The IT sector in India has been recording tremendous growth over the years, where it accounts for a growth rate of 7.5 percent per annum. Time series analysis is a statistical tool that can be used in forecasting the prices of financial assets. In the current study, the NIFTY IT index was forecasted from past data collected over a 10 year period spanning from 2011 to 2020. An ARIMA model is fit and used to forecast the NIFTY IT index. Forecasted values were different from actual prices, suggesting that more influencing independent variables must be include, to improve the model accuracy.

Exploring “Strategic Formulation” and “Strategic Implementation” concepts from a flexibility perspective, it is also an excellent companion to leading strategic management textbooks.

Factors Affecting Stock Returns of IT Companies Agrawal Vaishali,2022-12-03 Indian economy is considered as a growth engine of the world's economy. And stock market of such robust economy is the face of the growing market and companies in it. India has two main stock market platforms which are Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE) and National Stock Exchange (NSE). Stock market basically is an electronic platform where the shares of the companies are listed and traded. The share returns of the listed companies fluctuate on the basis of various factors which affect and build the sentiments of markets and investor, as stated by academicians and researchers. Stock Return refers to any financial or monetary benefit earned on making an investment. It is basically an appreciation in the value of stock. It is also been highlighted by many of the researchers that stock return acts as a base that motivates investor to invest in stocks of companies. Moreover, India is a hub of multiple sectors but particularly India is pioneer in Information Technology industry and IT companies of India are one of the greatest contributors in total export as well as fame for the country. Being a pioneer industry, shares of IT companies are always in the limelight of stock market. Further return on this is again fluctuates due to industry and market factors.

Capital Markets of India Alan R. Kanuk,2011-07-22 Capital Markets in India: An Investor's Guide aims to provide the first comprehensive book on investing in the India markets. India is right now at the forefront of globalization. The book's focus is on the equity market, but it also addresses derivatives, fixed income, and foreign direct investments. Chapter topics include facts about the Indian economy; the Foreign Institutional Investor (FII) regulations, registration process, and applications; detail about the market regulation and the regulator; the very important market safeguards built into the Indian market systems; and lists of companies ranked by various criteria such as capitalization, turnover, industry, and earnings. The book even supplies investors and traders with contact information for many of the key institutions and market players. Readers will not only gain basic information about how the markets in India work, but also the contacts and facts to help them with their own investing plan.

The Market Mafia Palak Shah,2020-11-11 In 2008, the then SEBI Chairman C B Bhavé's detachment from his Dharma as ‘the market watchdog’ opened the door for data theft at the National Stock Exchange (NSE), India's largest asset pool. It also led to the installation of defective Co-location (COLO) trading infrastructure at NSE, by an unofficial decree, which gave a select few brokers preferential access to equity derivatives. Fast-moving trading bots, deep-rooted nexus between enterprising PhD scholars Ajay Shah and Susan Thomas, economists, top dollar earning executives, politicians, bureaucrats and salivating brokers were at play. In 2015, SEBI was woken up by a whistleblower, who described the contours of a front-running market operation perpetrated for over five years involving the use of COLO and High-Frequency Trading. Surprisingly, SEBI never scrutinized NSE's COLO grid – an omission of duty – before the whistleblower highlighted the skulduggery. Harshad Mehta and Ketan Parekh are considered the 'formidable villains' for exploiting the systemic loopholes to manipulate share prices. Once the Demigods of Dalal Street, the rogue stock traders attracted such severe crack-down from government investigative agencies that could shock even the most hardened criminals. But a scandal of much larger magnitude involving data theft at NSE and the Multi Commodity Exchange, that Mehta and Parekh could ever rev-up, has largely remained a mystery. The author's path-breaking investigative journalism fleshes out the meticulous planning and organization behind the COLO scam, the dark drama involving SEBI probe and its loosely-knit final verdict.

Capital Markets in India Rajesh Chakrabarti, Sankar De, 2010-11-10 This book provides a comprehensive picture of the recent trends and developments in the Indian finance scenario. It provides the reader with a comprehensive description and assessment of the Indian capital markets and an analytical approach together with a description of major recent developments and the current status of the finance sector. The collection deals with issues like brokerage, security analysis, and underwriting, as well as the legal infrastructure of the markets. It focuses primarily on the Indian stock markets, corporate bond markets and derivatives markets. It also looks at the importance of asset management companies such as those involved with mutual funds, pension funds and venture capital funds to gain a better understanding of the asset management industry in India.

SOFT COMPUTING BASED STOCK PRICE PREDICTION N. Srinivasan, 2022-09-02 Trading in stock markets is not an easy task and requires expertise and knowledge that improve and increase the chances of making more profits and ensuring that you make profitable decisions at all times. Financial Experts and data analysts make use of various algorithms and neural networks to predict the value of stock depending upon the available information and then use the outcomes to analyze and make their trading decision. The main motive of this research is to predict the future stock value of the particular stock with minimum variation from the actual value of stock. In this research, a soft computing based mygrave algorithm is proposed for stock market prediction. It will be helpful for short term investors in the National stock market. Some important factors that affect the value of stock are Total stocks traded, Total turnover of the company, Gross Domestic Product (GDP) of the country, GDP per capita and political or external factors are some of the main factors that affect the stock value of that particular day. Opening and closing values of the stock market were predicted with the help of the above factors. Each factor will be considered as an object with mass, the mass of every object will be based on the importance. With the help of Mygrave Algorithm the converging point of the entire object is determined and it is said to be the optimal output of the algorithm. The inputs are opening, closing, low and high values of a stock for a period of one year (256 days). Stock Exchange data were collected from National Stock Exchange (NSE), India, 2016 and these data were given as an input to the proposed model to evaluate the performance of stock market. This research work outlines the basic elements influencing the future value of the stock and also suggests the best algorithm which gives the most efficient and accurate results.
