A Guide to Creating Your Own Internet Radio Station Kym Kostos, 2014-12-20 So, you think you have what it takes to be a DJ and broadcaster? Awesome news for you! And guess what? This is very lucky news for you because in today's technology, it allows anyone who wants to do what was once a limited to a very small percentage of people. But, now you can become an online / internet DJ and / or broadcaster! You can actually be the DJ, the station manager and even the program director who decides what to play on the station, because it's all on the internet! There are several ways and approaches you can take in creating a streaming Internet radio station. Which one you decide to choose depends on what your goals are and what type of ways you wish to go about doing them in. If you are really motivated and inspired to start an Internet-based radio station that operates for the sole purpose of profit and revenue generation, your direction and approach will be different than from the individual who just wants to set up an Internet radio station for the only purpose of simply sharing his or her favorite opinions, information or music with friends or people with the same interests as their own. There are many excellent options for the beginner that of which require very little technical knowledge. If you know how to create or put together MP3 format files, upload them onto a server and then choose some options, you can reach a world-wide audience! If this really interests you, keep on reading because you're about to enter the world of online radio.

HOW TO START YOUR OWN INTERNET RADIO STATION...A Step by Step Guide D. W. Lindsey, 2023-10-16 Welcome to starting a local radio station. Every year more and more people enjoy the benefits of independent radio stations in their communities. Since 2001, the creation and growth of local and independent media around the world has been remarkable; this achievement is part of the growth of the entire media sector, including commercial media, government media and community media. Internet radio station, online radio station, network radio or Iweb radio is an audio stream that can be broadcast over the Internet. This is called a stream, radio stream or listening link. Therefore, you cannot listen to it with normal radio equipment. As with classic radios that we mostly listen to in the car, there are general internet and thematic internet radios. Today we know that there are thousands of internet radio stations around the world, but it is impossible to give an exact number because technically anyone can start their own internet radio station overnight.

How Internet Radio Can Change the World Eric Lee, 2005 How Internet Radio Can Change the World: An Activist's Handbook is essential reading for trade unionists, environmental campaigners, human rights activists-anyone who is working to change the world. Author Eric Lee has pioneered the use of the Internet by unions around the globe, and the website he established in 1998, LabourStart, now appears in 19 languages and is used by thousands of activists every day. In early 2004, the author launched the first online labor radio station and this book reveals exactly what was involved in setting it up. It also delves into the short history of Internet radio, revealing how what began as a radical project to reinvigorate the liberal wing of the Democratic Party was turned into a commercial success-and yet remains a vital tool for activists. The book clearly explains both how to listen to Internet radio-and how to set up your own station.

The DIY Internet Radio Cookbook Tom Tenney, 2015-09-19 Finally, a step-by-step guide to getting your own Internet radio station up and running on a shoestring. Using minimal technical jargon, the book gives prospective broadcasters step-by-step guidance to getting on air with a low budget.

How to Start Internet Radio Muzec Adem, 2020-10-30 Internet radio services are usually accessible from anywhere in the world with a suitable internet connection available; one could, for example, listen to an Australian station from Europe and America. This has made internet radio particularly suited to and popular among expatriate listeners. Nevertheless, some major networks like TuneIn Radio, Entercom, Pandora Radio, iHeartRadio and Citadel Broadcasting (except for news/talk and sports stations) in the United States, and Chrysalis in the United Kingdom, restrict listening to in-country due to music licensing and advertising issues. Internet radio is also suited to listeners with special interests, allowing users to pick from a multitude of different stations and genres less commonly represented on traditional radio. Internet radio (also web radio, net radio, streaming radio, e-radio, IP radio, online radio) is a digital audio service transmitted via the Internet. Broadcasting on the Internet is usually referred to as webcasting since it is not transmitted broadly through wireless means. It can either be used as a stand-alone device running through the internet, or as software running through a single computer. Internet radio is generally used to communicate and easily spread messages through the form of talk. It is distributed through a wireless communication network connected to a switch packet network (the internet) via a disclosed source. Internet radio involves streaming media, presenting listeners with a continuous stream of audio that typically cannot be paused or replayed, much like traditional broadcast media; in this respect, it is distinct from on-demand file serving. Internet radio is also distinct from podcasting, which involves downloading rather than streaming. Internet radio services offer news, sports, talk, and various genres of music-every format that is available on traditional broadcast radio stations. Many Internet radio services are associated with a corresponding traditional (terrestrial) radio station or radio network, although low start-up and ongoing costs have allowed a substantial proliferation of independent Internet-only radio stations. The first Internet radio service was launched in 1993. As of 2017, the most popular internet radio platforms and applications in the world include (but are not limited to) TuneIn Radio, iHeartRadio, and Sirius XM.
