Curiosity and the Aesthetics of Travel-Writing, 1770-1840 Nigel Leask,2002-01-10 The decades between 1770 and 1840 are rich in exotic accounts of the ruin-strewn landscapes of Ethiopia, Egypt, India, and Mexico. Yet it is a field which has been neglected by scholars and which - unjustifiably - remains outside the literary canon. In this pioneering book, Nigel Leask studies the Romantic obsession with these 'antique lands', drawing generously on a wide range of eighteenth and nineteenth-century travel books, as well as on recent scholarship in literature, history, geography, and anthropology. Viewing the texts primarily as literary works rather than 'transparent' adventure stories or documentary sources, he sets out to challenge the tendency in modern academic work to overemphasize the authoritative character of colonial discourse. Instead, he addresses the relationship between narrative, aesthetics, and colonialism through the unstable discourse of antiquarianism, exploring the effects of problems of credit worthiness, and the nebulous epistemological claims of 'curiosity' (a leitmotif of the accounts studied here), on the contemporary status of travel writing. Attentive to the often divergent idioms of elite and popular exoticism, Curiosity and the Aesthetics of Travel Writing plots the transformation of the travelogue through the period, as the baroque particularism of curiosity was challenged by picturesque aesthetics, systematic 'geographical narrative', and the emergence of a 'transcendental self' axiomatic to Romantic culture. In so doing it offers an important reformulation of the relations between literature, aesthetics, and empire in the late Enlightenment and Romantic periods.

Inviscid Radiating Shock Layers about Spheres Traveling at Hyperbolic Speeds in Air Richard W. Barnwell,United States. National Aeronautics and Space Administration,1969 Time-dependent finite-difference techniques are used to obtain numerical solutions for the problem of the inviscid flow of radiating equilibrium air past sphere traveling at hyperbolic speeds. The effects of absorption are included, and results are presented for both gray and nongray absorption coefficient models for spheres with different radii. It is shown that the nondimensional heat-flux distributions for the gray and nongray models are similar and that these distributions are weak functions of the radius of the sphere and the altitude and strong functions of the flight velocity.

Sample Book Insights: #1 Buenos Aires has two airports, Ministro Pistarini International, which is fourteen miles from the center of Buenos Aires, and Jorge Newbury Airfield, which is just a mile and a half from the downtown area. #2 Tony enjoyed the unassuming family-run joint across from La Bombonera stadium, Bodegón Don Carlos, which was owned and run by Juan Carlos Zinola since 1970. #3 Tony met his on-camera therapist, Marina, at Los Talas del Entrerriano, a traditional parrilla restaurant in Buenos Aires. The portions are enormous, the sides and drinks are afterthoughts, and the flames are hot.

The Travel Experience Errol Shaw, 2014-07-17 When I first started traveling, I was unprepared for the experiences that were about to unfold. My only hope was to get a better understanding of the many cultures that makes the world such a unique place. I also have a great love for people and wanted to meet as many people as I possibly could. That experience did come to light as I move from one part of the globe to another. I can honestly say that of all the countries I have traveled around the world, not one place share the same similarity. From the poor and hungry in the far east to the middle east and from the squatters camp in Soweto to the Aborigines down in Australia, all embraced their own sets of values which has no comparison yet there are some values that enables the traveler to see that in spite of these unique cultural differences, people do share one thing in common. the will to embrace others who they may consider to be different in many ways.
