Re-Tales: Tales from the Retail World Jack

Cochran, 2016-05-06 Retail employees understand consumers, but very few consumers understand the people that bring them and sell them their goods. This void has made communication difficult for years. In an effort to understand and see through the eyes of the people who work in retail, Re-Tales centers on the thoughts and adventures of Jack, the new manager of a dying toy store. He's really awesome. With his co-workers Lars and Kirsten, he encounters customers, weirdos, and even a self-proclaimed vampire. Told in a series of short, fast paced stories, readers learn what it is like to work behind the register and how they really feel about the people that they serve.

It will provide you with tips on how to make a retail worker happy with you. Samuels,2017-06-07 If you think the customer is always right, you've never worked at a place like Kyle's before. Angeline has seen it all--crazy, stupid, and even mean. For the last five years, customers have tormented her daily in over five departments at her workplace, Kyle's General Store. In one chapter, she gives advice on surviving retail and shares her biggest pet peeves in the departments she has worked in. Join Angeline down memory lane as she tells her stories about crazy customers and the downright stupid questions they ask.

Rant of a Retailer Macy May Marcus,2015-10-22 Rant of a Retailer outlines the true-life adventures of Macy May Marcus, a seasoned department store manager, complete with insane customers, worse employees, and one horrendous boss. This is a non-fiction humor book on the trials and the (mild) triumphs of working in retail. According to The Wall Street Journal, roughly one of every 10 Americans is employed in the retail sector. This means 30 million of you readers will be able to relate to Macy's stories of agonized fitting room explosions and the horrors of the holidays. All stories are 100% true: every crazy, silly, disastrous, bumbling, lunatic story comes straight from the linoleum-covered racetrack of a major big-box retail store. With Chapters like, Crazy Customers Make It All Worthwhile, Returns, or Seriously? You're Really Returning This?, or Loss Prevention, or Don't Steal! (But if You Do, You Won't Get Caught), plus a bonus chapter on how to actually get what you want from bored, burnt-out, unmotivated retail employees. This is a laugh-out-loud, must-have manual for anyone who works - or shops - retail!

Tales from Store 509, Volume One Richard Van Gramberg, 2020-06-18 HORROR IN A RETAIL STORE! GRIPPING STORIES! SHOCKING TWISTS There's a store in the town of Brent Fall, on first glance it appears to be like any other regular retail store, but only at first glance. This store is like no other, and the stories inside it are beyond normal comprehension. In fact, they are too terrifying to imagine. VOLUME ONE INCLUDES 3 TERRIFYING STORIES: SHUTTER A HAUNTING LIKE NO OTHER... Story one follows, Emilio Almeida, on his first night at Store 509, where he will enter an old creaky shutter-lift. This lift however is no ordinary lift, and will reveal a dark, shocking and twisted truth, one of many from Store 509. BLACKOUT A MISSING GIRL. A SHOCKING TWIST. Story two follows, Sean Hunter, a young man with severe OCD, who will replace a former staff member in the bra and knickers' section of department 4. The thing is, the former staff member never finished her shift three months ago. It's a puzzling mystery as to what exactly happened, but it all started with a blackout... and will again for curious new employee, Sean Hunter. SICK LINE YOU'LL NEVER CALL SICK AGAIN! Story three follows, Melissa Digby, a student of Brent Fall University, who cares for her grandma, but doesn't colour within the lines when it comes to choosing work over partying. However, could the sick line at, Store 509, be the last call she ever makes? For ages 15 and over.

Retail Hell Freeman Hall, 2010-09-18 From Act I: I think you left these behind, I said, handing them to her. This happens all the time when women try to return bags they've used. Tampons, lipstick, coins, Tic Tacs, and condoms are the top treasures found. Greasy let out a sigh as if I were the problem. I really don't see what the problem is here. It's none of your business what I keep in my handbag. It is when my commission is at stake! I'm not your Designer Handbag Rental Service! My name is not BagBorrowOrSteal.com! This is a place Freeman Hall, a twenty-year veteran on the floor, knows well. While delivering side-splitting stories alongside brutally cynical commentary, Freeman recounts his most shocking experiences in Retail Hell. From the time he was attacked by a customer's four-year-old, who grabbed onto his leg like a poodle and wouldn't let go, to the day he found the fitting room walls covered in st, Freeman has seen and heard (smelled and felt) it all! Horrifying and hilarious, this behind-the-scenes look at what really goes on at the Big Fancy Stores is rollicking, ready-to-wear wisdom for readers everywhere.

I Can Get It for You Retail Rick Padulo, 2012-03-26 Padulo and his company created vastly successful advertising campaigns and now one of Canada's top ad men tells the down and dirty tales of how he reshaped the image of the retail industry.

The Customer Is Not Always Right A.J. Adams, 2009-12-22 Service workers share their funniest and most cringeworthy stories of difficult, demanding, and just plain mind-boggling encounters with the public . . . "Ma'am, the rules clearly state that you cannot have any liquids over 3.4 ounces in your carry-on. If you'd like to, you could—" "But that's not a liquid!" "Excuse me, ma'am?" "It's not a liquid! It's water!" Retailers, restaurants, and tech support providers believe service is king, but in The Customer Is Not Always Right, A.J. Adams proves that customers will do anything they can to put that motto to the test. Enjoy tales from the creator of the popular website Not Always Right, including half that are previously unpublished, showcasing customer-relations horror stories everyone can relate to. No matter what side of the counter you're on, there are hilarious accounts about everything that can go wrong between the customer and retail or service provider. Whether it's a confrontation in the drive-through over not enough fries or arguing over a one-cent price difference on milk, this book proves the principle of “the customer is always right” can be dead wrong.

Retail Tales and Nonsense Michael Dichter, 2010-10 Who Ya Bagging For? I have been told to bag for the cashier, the other bagger, or the supervisor. But very rarely have I been told to bag for the guest. This seems funny to me. Now if they wanted to tell me to take over for the other employee or the guest(s), that would make sense, but the easy, lazy way to communicate seems to be the only way they know how. You'd think someone that has the skills to do this job would at least know the difference between bagging for the cashier, etc., and the guests

The Retail Jungle J. T. LaPlante, 2010-02 It wasn't until my brother burst my dreams at the tender age of four that I started looking for another career path. The Retail Jungle is a hilarious guide on how to succeed in today's economy. A fun and captivating read, The Retail Jungle provides the information necessary to assist professionals in attaining their goals and finding success in today's competitive retail environment.

Retail Crap: Tales from the Front Howard Harrison, 2021-12-06 Retail Crap: Tales from the Front offers a humorous look at the U.S. retail industry with a particular focus on the people who work in the stores. These are the people who must deal with the American buying public. Retail Crap explores how self-checkout, cashless stores, online shopping, and other technology are putting retail employees out of work. It looks at the effect of shoplifting and other retail crime on honest employees and customers. Most of all, it shares first-hand accounts from retail employees about parents who lose track of their kids and blame the store, shoppers who refuse to leave at closing time, Black Friday horror stories, and countless other tales from the front. In this hilarious follow up to author Howard Harrison's critically acclaimed Corporate Crap: Lessons Learned from 40 Years in Corporate America, Harrison shares a hilarious but compelling inside look into life as a retail worker. Harrison also is the author of two other books, NOW They Make it Legal: Reflections of an Aging Baby Boomer, named a 2016 Reviewer's Choice by the Midwest Book Review, and The Great Divide: Story of the 2016 U.S. Presidential Race.

Retail Superstars George Whalin, 2009-05-28 How small, one-of-a-kind businesses can break through among giants Megachains like Walmart, Starbucks, Home Depot, and The Gap attract Americans to thousands of outlets by offering a large selection of goods and services. But this doesn't mean that independent stores can't compete with the big guys-and win. Retail expert George Whalin identifies and explores twenty-five highly popular and profitable independent stores from around the country. Unlike the mom-and-pops of yesteryear, these businesses embrace technology and innovation, generate word of mouth, and turn their size into an advantage. They include: ? ABC Carpet and Home in New York City ? Powell's City of Books in Portland, Oregon ? The Junkman's Daughter in Atlanta ? Jungle Jim's International Market in Fairfield, Ohio Readers will be inspired by how these independent stores are thriving and take away lessons they can apply to their own businesses.

The Mom & Pop Store Robert Spector, 2010-09-07 Business journalist Robert Spector grew up working in his family's butcher shop in Perth Amboy, New Jersey, where he learned invaluable lessons about the independent retail business. Mom & pop stores have always brought people together, fostering a sense of neighborhood identity and camaraderie, and are the glue that connects people in big cities and small towns alike. Long fascinated by the direct connection people feel as merchants and customers when they do business in neighborhood stores, at shops that are not super-sized, but human-sized, and responding to the growing buy local movement across the country, Spector set out to discover the state, and the state of mind, of independent retailing in America. From a specialty soda pop shop in Los Angeles to a florist shop in Dayton, Ohio, from a bakery in Chicago to a bookstore in Washington State, mom & pop store owners shared their stories with him, revealing the spirit and tenacity of the small business owner, dealing with frustration and defeat as well as triumph and success. Spector also interweaves the history of independent retailing. The Mom & Pop Store reflects the story of this country, for it embraces and cross-references every ethnic group, and virtually every element of our society.

That's Not Our Policy Justin Halbersma, 2017-02-25 Retail is a hard way to make a living. You see every aspect of human nature when working retail. In this short but humorous book, the author takes us inside the mind of a typical retail worker. Through his experiences and observations, he brings to life the every day grind of retail. This is a must read for anyone who has ever worked retail.

A Retail Life Seth Myles, 2017-05-30 Michael Callahan was a successful veteran store manager for City Lights, a national consumer electronics and appliances retailer. Life dealt him an unexpected hand when his rookie sales manager became tangled in a rivalry with a man working for the competitor.

Anything From a Pin to an Elephant Chris Armstrong, 2016-03-15 This fascinating book tells the stories of five well-known Norfolk independent department stores and the remarkable people behind them.

Malled Caitlin Kelly, 2011-04-14 One woman's midcareer misadventures in the absurd world of American retail. After losing her job as a journalist and the security of a good salary, Caitlin Kelly was hard up for cash. When she saw that The North Face—an upscale outdoor clothing company—was hiring at her local mall, she went for an interview almost on a whim. Suddenly she found herself, middle-aged and mid-career, thrown headfirst into the bizarre alternate reality of the American mall: a world of low-wage workers selling overpriced goods to well-to-do customers. At first, Kelly found her part-time job fun and reaffirming, a way to maintain her sanity and sense of self-worth. But she describes how the unexpected physical pressures, the unreasonable dictates of a remote corporate bureaucracy, and the dead-end career path eventually took their toll. As she struggled through more than two years at the mall, despite surgeries, customer abuse, and corporate inanity, Kelly gained a deeper understanding of the plight of the retail worker. In the tradition of Nickel and Dimed, Malled challenges our assumptions about the world of retail, documenting one woman's struggle to find meaningful work in a broken system.

Tales from Behind the Fitting Room Curtain Molly Hanger, 2014-11-01 Preparing for sales events, tills that don't work, the last-minute Christmas shopper and customers who take their prayer mat into the fitting room... Just a few of the day-to-day challenges of working in retail. And have you ever wondered what the retail assistant is really thinking when you surreptitiously sneak back a dress that you've actually worn but don't want to keep? Well now's your chance to find out. Molly Hanger reveals all this and much more in Tales from behind the fitting room curtain - an amusing account of life from the other side of the curtain. For those who work in retail - and for those who just love to shop.
