Discussion Materials Bill Keenan,2020-03-31 “Why aren’t you using LTM EBITDA for credit metrics?” asked the managing director who sat across from me, his widow’s peak clearly visible as he inspected the sheet in front of him. His spacious office looked out onto New York Harbor. “Bust,” said the vice president, who was a slightly younger, douchier version of Widow’s Peak. He slashed his red ballpoint pen across the sheet and flipped to the next page. “Walk me through the debt paydown and your interest rate assumptions,” continued the VP. “Pretty dovish view. Maybe the Fed knows what they’re doing after all,” said Widow’s Peak. He shot a glance at the VP. They shared a chuckle—at what, I couldn’t tell you. This question about interest rates I knew: Dovish, I thought. Doves fly south for the winter, so dovish is downwards...low interest rates— “We’re running short on time,” said Widow’s Peak. He flipped to the cover page of my presentation. “One final point—all pitch decks should have the same title.” “Since this presentation was geared towards an LBO analysis I was thinking—” “No thinking. All decks—same title—Discussion Materials.” Noted. Discussion Materials gives the reader an honest look at Wall Street from someone in the trenches. After graduating from Columbia Business School, Bill Keenan joined Deutsche Bank’s investment banking division as an associate where despotic superiors (and the blinking red light of his BlackBerry) instilled low-level terror on an hourly basis. You’ll join him in his cubicle on the 44th floor of 60 Wall Street as he scrambles to ensure floating bar charts are the correct shade of orange and all numbers are left-aligned, but whatever you do, don’t ask him what any of it means. Leaning heavily on his fellow junior bankers and the countless outsourcing resources the bank employs, he slowly develops proficiency at the job, eventually gaining traction and respect, one deal at a time, over a two-year span, ultimately cementing his legacy in the group by attaining the unattainable: placing a dinner order on Seamless one Sunday night at work from Hwa Yuan Szechuan amounting to $25.00 (tax and tip included), the bank’s maximum allowance for meals—the perfect order.

Millennial Tales A COLLECTION OF SHORT STORIES M. Viswanathan,2022-07-13 Millennial Tales’ is a collection of short stories that portray our society and its happenings. Every person reacts to circumstances in a unique way and it is this display of emotions that has been the foundation for spinning yarns to weave my stories. Each of these stories is the result of my desire to reflect and comment in an interesting manner on whatever I have seen, heard, or read. All characters featured in the stories are a product of my imagination, and therefore, fictional. Any resemblance to people in real life is purely coincidental .My apologies if some sentiments have been hurt in the process. Happy reading!

Earn It Carl Ryden, Dallas Wells, Jim Young, 2017-05-11 It's a tough time to be a bank. Banks were once associated with It's a Wonderful Life. Now it's The Big Short and Too Big to Fail. And they're facing a new world of greater regulation and stiffer competition. To survive, and even thrive, banks have to rebuild their brands - one customer relationship at a time. To do this, banks must rethink their approach to commercial pricing: The value they place on it; the strategies they use; the people and the tools they use to execute those strategies. To get pricing right, banks have to begin with the lender/customer interaction and work backward from there, always keeping the process focused on strengthening the bond between the banker and the borrower. That's what we believe at PrecisionLender. It's something we feel so strongly that we were compelled to put our philosophy into words, in this book. Whether you're a community banker, or working at a multinational money center, Earn It has lessons and advice you can use to change your bank's bottom line - and its future.
