Money and Gift at Work Davide Pellegrini,2013-01-18T00:00:00+01:00 The frequent attempts by companies to promote, intermediate and intercept individual conversations within digital communities are today opening up new ideological debate. In this work, our aim was to ascertain whether the new social ŊgameŲ is actually providing wealth for players, and examine any theoretical implications of the growing overlap between dialogue and sale, between market and society or, more simply, between money and gift. A review of recent literature is followed by discussion of logic and empirical evidence, which leads into a focus on the convergence currently taking place between the roles of customer and citizen. We develop a new theory of convergence and test it through a specially developed model of a Ŋco-value chainŲ. The metrics of the Covalue Model are used to measure and clarify the roles of customers, companies and communities. The model is applied to a large number of recent case histories, providing a topical focus on implications for management.

Chemicals classified as WMD have been included in the new edition as has more information frequently queried by first responders and frontline industrial safety personnel. *Includes and references European chemical identifiers and regulations. *The only single source reference that provides such in-depth information for each chemical. *The two volume set is designed for fast and accurate decision making in any situation.
