

Aa Basketball Fight

Pokey Allen

The Punch John Feinstein, 2002 Feinstein traces the impact of a 1977 fight between Kermit Washington of the Lakers and Rudy Tomjanovich of the Rockets that left Tomjanovich in the hospital and Washington with a two-month suspension.

Jump Shot: Kenny Sailors Lew Freedman, 2014-03-03 Kenny Sailors was a basketball star, and the inventor of the jump shot. He attended the University of Wyoming and was MVP in 1943 in college AA basketball. After WWII, he spent five years as an early player in the new NBA. As a youngster, Kenny was five-foot-seven but his older brother was six-foot-two so when playing basketball, Kenny had to jump up over his brother to get off a shot. That is how the jump shot was born, and Kenny used it in college and professional basketball. He played in Denver and several other cities whose team names have now changed, but he also played for the Boston Celtics with Bob Cousy. After he left the NBA, he moved to Alaska and in 1965 settled in the Glennallen area, where he was a fishing and hunting guide in the Wrangle Mountains for thirty-five years. He now lives in Idaho, and his son lives and flies aircraft from Antioch, California.

Fighting Illinois Basketball Sports Publishing Inc, 2003-12 Anticipation abounds concerning this year's Fighting Illini men's basketball team. There's a new coach, several fresh faces that come highly touted, a returning core of young budding stars, and plenty of reason for enthusiasm as we enter what is sure to be another exciting year of college basketball at the University of Illinois.

Fight Or Play Basketball Mike Messier, 2022-03-15
High school senior Jack Scratch is the star player for the North Providence Cougars basketball team and is seemingly on the fast track to a scholarship from Providence College (PC), and perhaps a career in the NBA. Jack rides his bike every morning through the rough streets of North Providence, Rhode Island, USA until he reaches his destination- the PC outdoor basketball court. There he works tirelessly to perfect his already superb basketball skills. During one of those early mornings, Jack also attempts to romance Mindy Kim, a Women's Volleyball player who advises Jack about campus life as a scholarship victim. Jack's journey takes a detour after his protective and strong single mother Janet Trap is saved from a mugger by two boxers; Karl Sweet Sugar Brown, a former heavyweight contender who now trains young fighters in his own gym, and Paveli Punch Pangora, a Slovenian slugger who has traveled many miles to be mentored by Sweet. After Janet befriends the two boxers, Jack decides to check out Sweet's Sweat Box Gym himself. Jack discovers that he has a natural ability for the sweet science of boxing and he finds the sport's individual nature refreshing after years of carrying his basketball teammates. Jack endures a bit of hazing from the resident bully of the gym, Bruiser Bobby Studd, a silent but brutal kid about his age. Jack decides to enter a local boxing tournament to test his mettle. Things go sideways when an old buck vs. young buck rivalry between Sweet and Punch splits the gym, as both men envision themselves filling the role of trainer to Jack and, perhaps by association, as a romantic partner to Janet. The bruised hands and sore wrists that come from sparring upset basketball Coach Quick Rick Steele and Jack's teammates, especially after the Cougars are invited to participate in an annual Hall of Fame game that always attracts college scouts, and possibly job opportunities for Steele himself. When the Cougars' big game is scheduled to take place on the very same day as the finals of the local boxing tournament, Jack must make his choice: to Fight or Play Basketball.
