Charlie Nye

Hoosier Century Charlie Nye, 1999 For more than 125 years, The Indianapolis Star and News have been the newspapers of record for Indiana. Now at the dawn of the 21st Century, the paper's photography editors have put the past 100 years in context with this beautifully illustrated volume, arranged as a historical record in pictures and in the format of a handsome coffee table book. Hoosier Century: 100 Years of Photography from The Indianapolis Star and News is drawn from Indiana's most complete photographic archive. Complemented with essays and captions that highlight the century's most significant stories, the pictures are the book's focus. The images beautifully illustrate the growth, the personalities, and the events that were so much a part of this Hoosier Century.

Country Outings for City Children ,1920

The Indianapolis News Souvenir ,2016-07-06 Excerpt from The Indianapolis News Souvenir: Dedication, Ceremonies and History; Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument; Thursday, May the Fifteenth, Nineteen Hundred Two The Indiana Monument fails to show its best points to best advantage, because of its cramped quarters and the uneven and sometimes unsightly architecture of the buildings that crowd it on every side. Christ church is the only building in keeping with the Monument itself, and it is too near. Many smaller monuments are more fortunate than this giant. Had the Indianapolis Monument a site Such as the Soldiers and Sailors' monument at Cleveland, the Nelson monument in London, the Marie Therese monument in Vienna and scores more that could be named, it would, in all eyes, outshine all competitors. Indianapolis Television David L. Smith,2012-04 In 1949, when the first television station in Indianapolis was about to go on the air, R.K. Shull, the venerated television columnist for the Indianapolis Times and Indianapolis News, said, Channel 6 has laid plans for the biggest possible attention-grabbing debut a TV station could make in Indianapolis . . . live coverage of the Indianapolis 500-mile race. Only three cameras covered the entire track, but the audience at the time was not very discriminating. Before networks had full-time programming, casts and crews experimented with the new medium in full view of the audience. Even after the networks began to monopolize programming, a number of local personalities became viewer favorites. David Letterman decided to have fun with the weather. Jane Pauley refused to cut her long locks, so her entire face was seldom seen on location in windy weather. George Willeford made fun of the movies he was introducing. Frank Edwards had his dog sitting on his desk during his newscast. Debbie Drake started her own daily exercise show, which was later nationally syndicated.
