📖 When the Scientist Presents Jean-Luc Lebrun, 2009-08-21 Check out the author's website at www.scientific-presentations.com This book looks at the presenting scientist from a novel angle: the presenter-host. When scientists give a talk, the audience ("guests") expects the title of the talk to determine presentation content, they require understandable slides, and they demand visible and audible scientific authority. To each expectation corresponds a set of skills: personal (voice, host qualities, time control), technical (presentation tools and slide design), and scientific (Q&A, slide content). The author takes an original human factor view of the presentation delivery, in which the audience is easily distracted, rapidly forgetful, and increasingly impatient. Thus, insightful pointers are given on how to deliver the talk, how to craft the slides, and how to prevent the computer from rendering the presenting host-scientist into a "ghost". In addition, the book goes in-depth over the treatment of questions by examining the motives and style of the questioners, and advising on how best to answer to each type of questioner. The book comes with a DVD for audio and video examples, and includes essential PowerPoint and Keynote techniques that a presenter cannot live without. Contents: Content Selection: Paper and Oral Presentation: The Difference Content Filtering Criteria Audience Expectations: General Audience Expectations Scientific Audience Expectations The Slides: Five Slide Types, Five Roles Slide Design The Presenter: The Master of Tools Scientist and Perfect Host The Grabbing Voice The Answerable Scientist Readership: Students, graduates, postgraduates, and professionals seeking help in improving their scientific presentation skills.

📖 MINDXPRES: Conceptual and Technical Foundations for Next Generation Presentation Solutions Reinout Roels, 2019-05-27 Presentation tools such as PowerPoint were initially created to simulate physical slides and have inherited a lot of their limitations. In this dissertation we identify the shortcomings and unmet user needs in presentation software by means of literature study, observations, a survey and the programmatic analysis of over 12000 PowerPoint documents. The results indicate that user needs are slowly evolving while existing software has hardly changed over the last 30 years. We motivate the need to rethink the concept of a presentation and we provide conceptual and technical foundations that can enable interoperable and well-integrated solutions for the identified shortcomings. The resulting MINDXPRES platform consists of a new conceptual framework, content model, information system and presentation engine. We present MINDXPRES as a presentation platform that enables researchers and developers to build innovative presentation solutions that cannot be implemented in the existing tools. We further demonstrate the flexibility of the MINDXPRES platform by discussing a wide range of proof-of-concept plug-in solutions for the identified shortcomings and unmet user needs.
