Adrenalin Rocket: Run for Your Life, a Love Story (Yanapop Dark Urban Fantasy) Y. B. Suttle, 2018-07-02 You've never read a book quite like ADRENALIN ROCKET, a dark fantasy thriller. It's both a wild adventure on steroids across the landscape of Southern California as you never imagined it, and a youthful love story between Martin and Chloë, both 21 years old and ready for orbit. When the speedometer is stuck on blur, you won't be able to sleep or eat because you'll be so anxious to learn what happens next. When you recover from the amazing rush in one sitting (can't stop reading!), you'll love it and tell everyone that you can't wait for the movie to be made. It's like reading a summer movie in a novel. Even if it's snowing rail cars outside, you'll enjoy a beach read and sizzling rocket ride in your bedroom (maybe at moments under the bed even). Author assurance: a sequel is already in work. ADRENALIN ROCKET is a dark fantasy ride in to orbit. A guy meets girl romance all the way, it starts out with deceptive calm. You won't see the hammer coming when it slams down (for your own safety, try to be lying down as you read). The story instantly turns into a suspenseful, hair raising adventure of fantastic and enjoyably Psycho proportions designed to see how far our imagination can stretch before our brain melts like cheese on a pizza. It's like Homer's Odyssey on steroids, filmed by Alfred Hitchcock after three pots of morning coffee. Running nonstop for your life with Martin Brown, you'll meet alien taxi drivers in Noir L.A. and other unusual characters as fascinating as they may be terrifying. Martin Brown, 21, is a U.C. Berkeley Literature student, is home in San Diego as the novel starts. He's finished another year of college and is alone in life because he just broke up with his girlfriend. He's spending the summer with his parents and sister in laid-back San Diego. He's searching for a new summer gig after his job shoveling krappe at a tree farm fell through. He has his old surfer and surferette friends to cheer him on. Acting on a strong lead from a female friend, he drives two hours to Los Angeles to interview for a writing position with global media giant corporation YANAPOPOP (a marketing concept meaning Young Adult + New Adult + Participating Older Persons). YANAPOPOP, Inc. creates games, films, books, and other entertainment for young adults, new adults, and participating older persons around the world. In Los Angeles for his interview, Martin meets a gorgeous young production assistant named Chloë Setreal (also 21). Chloë guides him through his interviews and takes a special interest in the handsome young applicant. Martin and Chloë fall madly and instantly in love that same day. Martin returns to San Diego, two hours south, to await results. All he can think of is Chloë, yearning for any excuse to go back and see her as soon as possible. Chloë is thinking the same up in L.A. With some dark karma, their wish comes true. No sooner has Martin arrived back home, than he receives a call from Chloë in LA. She's been in a car accident, is stuck in her apartment with one leg up in a cast, and desperately longs for her dashing hero Martin to come hold her hand. Martin gallantly hops in his car and heads north, just as a tremendous Pacific Ocean storm begins to pelt San Diego. That's just the beginning of a hair-raising adventure, a nightmare of epic proportions. Courageous and undaunted Martin Brown strives to reach Los Angeles (Lost Alienopolis) at any cost. What should be a two-hour drive turns into a Homeric Odyssey lasting a seeming eternity... ADRENALIN ROCKET is a yarn for lovers of wild stories on a spectrum from Groundhog Day to National Lampoon's Vacation, from The Crying of Lot 49 by Thomas Pynchon to Martin Scorsese's dark comedy masterpiece After Hours with its all-star cast. Think of The Last Seduction (with Linda Fiorentino) or even way back when, Jack Lemmon and Sandy Dennis in The Out-Of-Towners film. ADRENALIN ROCKET is the next great thing.

Rocket's Run Sally Sandler, 2018-04-27 Rocket's Run is a true tale of a little dog who is inspired each day to match his speed running on the beach to the train on the cliff above. His story reminds us that it isn't necessary to win a race--the joy of running full throttle is its own reward. Children will delight in this spirited and determined little Jack Russell terrier whose adventure is illustrated with love and humor through brilliant photographs taken by his owner. The rugged, sun-washed beauty of the beaches of North San Diego County, California, elegantly captured in John Cunningham's photos, will appeal to adults as well as children. This is the first in a series of books about this spirited little dog entitled, Rocket's Seaside Adventures.

Barry Sanders Jack Kavanagh, 1994 Traces the life of the Detroit Lion running back from his childhood and college career at Oklahoma State University to his professional career, religious affiliations, and personal interests.

Rocket Fuel Gino Wickman, Mark C. Winters, 2015-04-28 Discover the vital relationship that will take your company from What's next? to We have liftoff! Visionaries have groundbreaking ideas. Integrators make those ideas a reality. This explosive combination is the key to getting everything you want out of your business. It worked for Disney. It worked for McDonald's. It worked for Ford. It can work for you. From the author of the bestselling Traction, Rocket Fuel details the integral roles of the Visionary and Integrator and explains how an effective relationship between the two can help your business thrive. Offering advice to help Visionary-minded and Integrator-minded individuals find one another, Rocket Fuel also features assessments so you're able to determine whether you're a Visionary or an Integrator. Without an Integrator, a Visionary is far less likely to succeed long-term, and realize the company's ultimate goals--likewise, with no Visionary, an Integrator can't rise to his or her full potential. When these two people come together to share their natural talents and innate skill sets, it's like rocket fuel--they have the power to reach new heights for virtually any company or organization.

Space Race Rebecca Stefoff, 2016-08-01 This book explores various perspectives surrounding the Space Race between the United States and the Soviet Union. Readers are immersed in the action as their choices guide the narrative.

Rocket Run: From Vietnam to Jerusalem Hyam Yona Becker, 2018-01-15 Why does an American helicopter gunship pilot with a perfect combat record in the Vietnam War welcome a chance to finish his tour of duty in solitary confinement in the freezing bowels of Leavenworth Prison? Rocket Run is the agonizing search of a Jewish man who never gives up the struggle for truth, justice and every wrong way until he finally finds solace within Jerusalem's holy walls. This is compelling reading - Rabbi Akiva Tatz

Comparison of Small Water-graphite Nuclear Rocket Stages with Chemical Upper Stages for Unmanned Missions M. Ray Clark, Gary D. Sagerman, Gerald P. Lahti, 1968

Race Around the Sun Walt Harper, 2020-05-12 Race around the Sun summarizes the progress of rocket science in this most recent and most dynamic Century of scientific accomplishments. Willingness to assume a celestial perspective and acceptance of the extreme hazards made in Space Exploration are necessary requirements for understanding this most ambitious of all Human objectives. Far more sophisticated rockets will be built and unknown mysteries are poised to be discovered on our next race around the Sun.

Rocket Salvage #1 Yehudi Mercado, 2014-12-17 WHY BOOM! LOVES IT: When writer/animation Yehudi Mercado (GUARDIANS OF THE GALAXY: UNIVERSAL WEAPON; PANTALONES, TX) came to us with a dysfunctional family drama about three clones running a rocket ship repair shop, we were already on board. Throw in some spaceport street-racing and a few alien gangsters--just tell us when to start our engines! WHY YOU'LL LOVE IT: Did we mention space racing?! With blow-your-gamma-gasket sequences from artist Bachan (IMAGINE AGENTS), this series has both action and heart. Fans of STAR WARS: THE CLONE WARS, BRAVEST WARRIORS, and SPEED RACER will want to pick up a wrench and strap in for the ride. WHAT IT'S ABOUT: Primo Rocket used to be the fastest speeder-racer in the galaxy, but after a crash that sealed the fate of his space-station-city home, Rio Rojo, Primo has resigned himself to life as a lowly spaceship salvage yard owner. However, his two "kids"--harvest clone Beta, and Beta's genius girl-clone Zeta--can't seem to keep out of trouble. When the dysfunctional family suddenly becomes the target of an intergalactic manhunt, the family has to come together to save their home.

How to Make a Spaceship Julian Guthrie, 2017-09-05 A New York Times bestseller! The historic race that reawakened the promise of manned spaceflight Winner of the 2016 Eugene E. Emme Award for Astronautical Literature A Finalist for the PEN/E. O. Wilson Literary Science Writing Award Alone in a Spartan black cockpit, test pilot Mike Melvill rocketed toward space. He had eighty seconds to exceed the speed of sound and begin the climb to a target no civilian pilot had ever reached. He might not make it back alive. If he did, he would make history as the world's first commercial astronaut. The spectacle defied reason, the result of a competition dreamed up by entrepreneur Peter Diamandis, whose vision for a new race to space required small teams to do what only the world's largest governments had done before. Peter Diamandis was the son of hardworking immigrants who wanted their science prodigy to make the family proud and become a doctor. But from the age of eight, when he watched Apollo 11 land on the Moon, his singular goal was to get to space. When he realized NASA was winding down manned space flight, Diamandis set out on one of the great entrepreneurial adventure stories of our time. If the government wouldn't send him to space, he would create a private space flight industry himself. In the 1990s, this idea was the stuff of science fiction. Undaunted, Diamandis found inspiration in an unlikely place: the golden age of aviation. He discovered that Charles Lindbergh made his transatlantic flight to win a $25,000 prize. The flight made Lindbergh the most famous man on earth and galvanized the airline industry. Why, Diamandis thought, couldn't the same be done for space flight? The story of the bullet-shaped SpaceShipOne, and the other teams in the hunt, is an extraordinary tale of making the impossible possible. It is driven by outsized characters—Burt Rutan, Richard Branson, John Carmack, Paul Allen—and obsessive pursuits. In the end, as Diamandis dreamed, the result wasn't just a victory for one team; it was the foundation for a new industry and a new age.

Saturn Run John Sandford, Ctein, 2015-10-06 "Fans of Lucas Davenport and Virgil Flowers will eat this up." -- Stephen King For fans of THE MARTIAN, an extraordinary new thriller of the future from #1 New York Times—bestselling and Pulitzer Prize—winning author John Sandford and internationally known photo-artist and science fiction aficionado Ctein. Over the course of thirty-seven books, John Sandford has proven time and again his unmatched talents for electrifying plots, rich characters, sly wit, and razor-sharp dialogue. Now, in collaboration with Ctein, he proves it all once more, in a stunning new thriller, a story as audacious as it is deeply satisfying. The year is 2066. A Caltech intern inadvertently notices an anomaly from a space telescope—something is approaching Saturn, and decelerating. Space objects don't decelerate. Spaceships do. A flurry of top-level government meetings produces the inescapable conclusion: Whatever built that ship is at least one hundred years ahead in hard and soft technology, and whoever can get their hands on it exclusively and bring it back will have an advantage so large, no other nation can compete. A conclusion the Chinese definitely agree with when they find out. The race is on, and an remarkable adventure begins—an epic tale of courage, treachery, resourcefulness, secrets, surprises, and astonishing human and technological discovery, as the members of a hastily thrown-together crew find their strength and wits tested against adversaries both of this earth and beyond. What happens is nothing like you expect—and everything you could want from one of the world's greatest masters of suspense.

Rocket Racers Victor Appleton, 2007-01-23 When he arrives at a competition to race his new rocket-powered plane, Tom learns that some of the contestants have crashed during their test runs and decides to investigate the cause of the problem.

Four Flags, The Odyssey of a Professional Soldier Dave Barr, 2015-12-19 Dave Barr had had a penchant for trouble since day one, born in the back of a car, shooting by the time he was five, riding a motorbike at seven, Dave regularly got into fights at school. The only reading Dave would do growing up involved motorbikes, shooting, westerns and the military. After reading Battle Cry by Leon Uris aged 12 he knew he wanted to be a Marine. Following a series of menial jobs, working at a barbers and in service stations, at 17 he joined the Marines before shipping out to Vietnam. This was his dream come true, flying as a helicopter gunner, he ended the war with an impressive 57 Air Medals. After leaving the Marines, like many veterans Dave found it hard to hold down a good job and stay out of trouble. It was then that he read about Israel. Always looking for a rush Dave learnt to skydive before he deciding to take his chances, emigrating illegally to Israel. He was inducted into the Israeli Army and then the Paratroops, where the training was difficult, involving long tough marches, and learning Hebrew. After serving his time he left Israel - back in the USA Dave was stuck in a rut and ready for his next adventure....This is the first volume in the gripping and action-packed memoirs of Dave Barr, providing a rich and colorful account of one man's odyssey as a professional soldier, seeing war at the 'sharp end'.

The Race to the Moon Allison Lassieur,2014 Describes the space race and the moon landing. Readers' choices reveal various historical details--

The U.S. Navy's "Interim" LSM(R)s in World War II Ron MacKay, Jr.,2016-05-03 The Interim LSM(R) or Landing Ship, Medium (Rocket) was a revolutionary development in rocket warfare in World War II and the U.S. Navy's first true rocket ship. An entirely new class of commissioned warship and the forerunners of today's missile-firing naval combatants, these ships began as improvised conversions of conventional amphibious landing craft in South Carolina's Charleston Navy Yard during late 1944. They were rushed to the Pacific Theatre to support the U.S. Army and Marines with heavy rocket bombardments that devastated Japanese forces on Okinawa in 1945. Their primary mission was to deliver maximum firepower to enemy targets ashore. Yet LSM(R)s also repulsed explosive Japanese speed boats, rescued crippled warships, recovered hundreds of survivors at sea and were deployed as antisubmarine hunter-killers. Casualties were staggering: enemy gunfire blasted one, while kamikaze attacks sank three, crippled a fourth and grazed two more. This book provides a comprehensive operational history of the Navy's 12 original Interim LSM(R)s.

Race Into Space David Jefferis,Mat Irvine,2007 An exciting look at the space race of the last century, when two countries spurred on by the Cold War competed to be the leader in space exploration. Features milestones from the early attempts at rocket building to the Russian and American space programs of the 1950s, 60s, 70s and 80s.
