Values, Education and the Human World John

Haldane, Bryan Appleyard, David Carr, Mary Midgley, Anthony O'Hear, Richard Pring, Anthony Quinton, Jonathan Sacks, Stewart Sutherland, Mary Warnock, 2011-10-04 The essays in this book consist of revised versions of Victor Cook Memorial Lectures delivered in the universities of St. Andrews, London, Cambridge, Aberdeen, Oxford, Glasgow and Leeds.

Human Values in Education Rudolf Steiner, 2004

These lectures on education were given well after the founding of several Waldorf schools in Europe, and thus Steiner was able to draw on the practical experience of this form of education in action.

Values Education on Human Sexuality Robert Z.

Cortes, Marie Adelaide D. Murrf Trinidad, Charming May DA Guce, Ma. Concha B. De La Cruz, Theresa Ma. B. Cortes, SPECIAL QUESTIONS (FOR GRADE 11, THE AGE OF DEEPENING) The book series is all about education in human sexuality, based on the nourishment and cultivation of the natural gift of a person's character. The series is based on the premise that SEXUALITY EDUCATION is, basically, CHARACTER EDUCATION, which in turn is founded on human dignity and encompasses formation in moral standards and human conduct; hence, covering the key elements of "life and love, and everything in between". Comprising an introductory volume for parents and teachers; a volume for classroom use of teachers; a volume for parents; and eight volumes for Grades 5 to 12, respectively, this current volume is specifically addressed to Grade 6 pupils, about 17 to 18 year olds in their late adolescence. It talks about SPECIAL QUESTIONS: on issues concerning life; sex; marriage; and human identity. Since men and women have been gifted with intellect and

will, one becomes highly capable of using well or abusing these powers for the good or damage of self and fellowmen. It is thus extremely important that students at this age have a deep appreciation of the issues confronting the modern world, especially in the realm of sexuality and the channels of its development. The book series is characterized by sound, perennial concepts and by teaching and learning tools geared towards the age group being addressed.

Values in Education and Education in Values Mark Halstead, Monica J. Taylor, 2005-10-26 An investigation into how schools can influence the developing values of young people is given in this book. The authors first look, from the perspective of educationalists and policy makers, at values within contemporary education; in particular, moral, spiritual, democratic and environmental values together with arts and health education. Secondly, they focus on the values of pupils and schools, examining school aims and mission statements, the formal curriculum, school ethos and assessment of children's development.; Insights are provided with guidance on how values may be most effectively incorporated into the activities of the schools. This book is intended to be of use as a practical and informative guide to all those involved in primary and secondary education and those interested in values education generally.

International Research Handbook on Values Education and Student Wellbeing Terence Lovat, Ron Toomey, Neville Clement, 2010-08-05 Informed by the most up-to-date research from around the world, as well as examples of good practice, this handbook analyzes values education in the context of a range of school-based measures associated with student wellbeing. These include social, emotional, moral and spiritual growth – elements that seem to be present where intellectual advancement and academic achievement are being maximized. This text comes as 'values education' widens in scope from being concerned with morality, ethics, civics and citizenship to a broader definition synonymous with a holistic approach to education in general. This expanded purview is frequently described as pedagogy relating to 'values' and 'wellbeing'. This contemporary understanding of values education, or values and wellbeing pedagogy, fits well with recent neuroscience research. This has shown that notions of cognition, or intellect, are far more intertwined with social and emotional growth than earlier educational paradigms have allowed for. In other words, the best laid plans about the technical aspects of pedagogy are bound to fail unless the growth of the whole person – social, emotional, moral, spiritual and intellectual, is the pedagogical target. Teachers and educationalists will find that this handbook provides evidence, culled from both research and practice, of the beneficial effects of such a 'values and wellbeing' pedagogy.

Global Values Education Joseph Zajda, Holger Daun, 2009-08-11 Global Values Education: Teaching Democracy and Peace , which is the seventh volume in the 12-volume book series Globalisation, Comparative Education and Policy Research, presents scholarly research on major discourses in values education globally. It provides an easily accessible, practical yet scholarly source of information about the international concern in the field of globalisation and comparative education. Above all, the book offers the latest findings to the critical issues concerning major discourses in comparative education in values education in the global culture. It is a sourcebook of ideas for researchers, practitioners and policy makers in values education, multiculturalism and moral education. It offers a timely overview of current issues affecting values education, comparative education and education policy research in the global culture. It provides directions in values education, and policy research, relevant to transformational educational reforms in the twenty-first century (see also Zajda & Rust, 2009). This book critically examines the overall interplay between values education, globalisation, dominant ideologies and implications for policy research (see also Apple, 2004). It draws upon recent studies in the areas of globalisation, equity, social justice and the role of the State (Zajda, Biraimah, & Gaudelli, 2008). It explores conceptual frameworks and methodological approaches applicable in the research covering values education, globalisation, equity and multicultural education. Various book chapters critique the dominant discourses and debates pertaining to values education, multiculturalism and relevant comparative education discourses.

Values in Education Graham Haydon, 2007-02-15 What are the fundamental aims and values underlying education? What values should education try to promote in a world of value pluralism? What is morality, and should schools teach it? In a secular society, how should schools treat the links between morality and religion? How should values enter into professional education and educational leadership? This book, an updated edition of Teaching about Values, will help the reader to think about these questions and many others concerning values in education. Drawing on philosophy without assuming knowledge of the subject, it is for teachers, students of education and anyone who recognises the importance of values in education.

Education for a World of Peace Lucie

Marcotte, 2015-02 Education for a world of Peace is an example of education based on human values. A simple approach in 7 steps to define learning projects based on human values. 189 ideas for learning projects based on 44 human values. The impact of this way of learning is that human values are included in the basis for learning and they contribute to healthy, ethical and responsible personal foundations. This way of learning also helps to create from an early age, the tangible and experienced reality of human values in all areas of life. Education based on human values... to materialize spirituality by bringing Knowledge and Wisdom of the heart in the concrete experience of life on Earth, and by restoring to what is part of life on Earth, its sacred meaning in service for the greater good. With human values, education could contribute to the true education of every human being, to the healing of humanity. For example, children could experience... ..benevolence in learning native languages, and the impact it has for oneself and others. Express oneself in a caring and benevolent manner in written communications. (email, texting, social media, research reports, letters, compositions, articles, etc..) Speak and express oneself in a caring and benevolent manner in oral communications (in class, at home, on the phone, in public, with friends, in a theater, facing the camera, in a video, a presentation, an interview, etc.) ...equity in learning the mathematics for fair trade and a project in class, with a research project on the geographical distribution of abundance in the world and a presentation with their ideas for a concrete new vision of planetary equity. ...integrity in learning to create advertising projects, informational documents, pamphlets, promotional banners, posters, etc. that are lively and true, to offer a self-financing product, tickets for the year end school show, a product from the fair trade project, a benevolent, kind and caring service, etc. ...coherence by learning to develop a state of cardiac coherence, harmonize the brain hemispheres, being grounded with both feet on the ground, focus attention, harmonize emotions, thoughts, words and actions, facilitate learning with the intelligence of the heart, etc. ..unity by organizing an event to gather people and create what can enhance human life and contribute to a better life for all. Education based on human values restores the sacred meaning of education. ... If human values were fostered and encouraged as the basic objectives of learning and skills development, they could help make these learnings, knowledge and skills to be naturally and from the basis, oriented towards ... Love, the blossoming of the soul qualities of each Being and the realization of human potential, in service for the greater good, of our true nature of Love and Light I am and the Source of Divine Love ...

14 lectures, Basel, April 20-May 16, 1920 (CW 301)
Following a lecture of November 27, 1919 requested by the Basel Department of Education, sixty members of the audience invited Rudolf Steiner to return and deliver a complete lecture course on his approach to education. These lectures are the result. Rudolf Steiner begins by outlining the gradual development of the child with the help of spiritual forces and enlightened educational practices, which form the basis for Steiner's approach to education. He describes the problems that modern educators face and provides practical solutions. Steiner explains the effects of morality on real freedom and how the development of a child's will leads to a free, flexible ability to think. He describes the life-long effects that teachers have on children through the ways they teach in the early grades. The subjects of these lectures cover a broad range, from the threefold nature of the human being to the teacher's responsibility toward their students' future; from arts such as music and eurythmy to the problems involved in training teachers; from zoology and botany to language, geography, and history. Like many of Steiner's lectures to public audiences, these are accessible and practical and provide a real overview to his ideas for renewing modern education. This book is a translation of the German edition, Die Erneuerung der pädagogisch-didaktischen Kunst durch Geisteswissenschaft, Rudolf Steiner-Nachlassverwaltung, 1977.

Work Values ,2020-10-12 This book is an important contribution to the Values literature on the meanings of work. These essays explore the philosophical, ethical, religious, and social foundations that underscore so much of the current thinking and concern about work satisfaction and the place of work in the search of meaning. Various points of view are presented and these include among others historical perspectives, empirical studies and cross-cultural explorations. The result is a compelling and critical volume which challenges many basic cultural and empirical assumptions and raises many questions about values and value-based decisions.

Values Education on Human Sexuality Robert Z. Cortes,Marie Adelaide D. Murrf Trinidad,Charming May DA Guce,Ma. Concha B. De La Cruz,Theresa Ma. B. It talks about POPULATION AND DEVELOPMENT, a most contentious issue in today’s rapidly changing world and moral environment: its basic issues and assumptions; the economics of population; worldwide trends in population management; and the “demographic winter” of humanity, especially in the developed world. Understanding the basics and nuances of these questions would lead to more developmental, more responsible, decisions, with impact today and tomorrow, here and elsewhere. The book series is characterized by sound, perennial concepts and by teaching and learning tools geared towards the age group being addressed.

How Values Education Can Improve Student and Teacher Wellbeing Roger Packham, Margaret Taplin, Kevin Francis, 2024-06-11 Presenting Values Education as a solution to major challenges in education such as student disengagement and teacher burnout, this book provides a wealth of practical advice about how to implement the Education in Human Values approach in schools, promoting wellness and improved educational outcomes. Values Education is a world-wide movement and comes in several forms.
